TALKS IN TUMULT CUBAN FISTS FLY

PUNTA DEL ESTE (UPI)—A Cuban exile leader leaped to the president's platform at the inter-American economic conference last night and touched off a flurry of fist fighting by shouting "Murderer! Down with Communism!" at Cuban economic czar Ernesto (Che) Guevara.

Guevara had just finished accusing the United States of plotting to assassinate Premier Fidel Castro's brother Raul and attempting to stage an incident at the Guantanamo naval base when the melee broke out.

The exile's dramatic action touched off a general tumult within the conference hall, and during the ensuing melee, at least three fist fights erupted between pro- and anti-Castro Cubans.

SEIZED HIM

Cuban delegation secretary Carlos Heredero Lastre was pelted with fists when he jumped up to answer six exiles shouting anti-Castro slogans.

Dr. Max Azori-Levey jumped on the platform before the startled delegates from 21 nations. Two ushers seized him and hustled him out of the room.

FLAG UNFURLED

Immediately afterwards, another Cuban leaped into the middle of the U-shaped conference table and unfurled a Cuban flag, which he held in front of the bearded Guevara.

The Cuban was identified later as one of Guevara's bodyguards.

GOT STUCK

Guevara left the conference room surrounded by a flying wedge of bodyguards. There were so many of them that he got momentarily stuck in the revolving door as he left.

At least six persons were taken to the police station, but all but two were released. Two of the Cuban delegation members showed police intelligence division cards.

'DEATH THREAT'

Azori Levy was among those released. He told newsmen he protested against Guevara because Guevara represents Russia, not Cuba. He said three members of the Cuban delegation had threatened to kill him.

The scuffle with Heredero took place in the press gallery, about 10 feet from the nearest delegates.

IMPERIALISM CHARGE

In addition to his charges of a U.S. assassination plot, Guevara also produced two alleged copies of secret state department documents which he claimed demonstrated the extent of U.S. "imperialism" in Latin America.

He said the plot was scheduled for last July 26. He did not say why it failed, but said it was aimed at provoking "armed aggression" from the Guantanamo naval base.

Duncan Water's Dirty And Beer's Expensive

DUNCAN—A Price Place resident has complained to city council that tap water is so foul he has to drink beer.

Jack Hindmarch, who produced a sample glass of water in which floated pieces of wood, told council, "I just dare not drink the water. As a matter of fact, it's costing me four cases of beer a week."

Poisoning 'Victims' Safe After International Hunt

By JACK FRY

A Canadian customs man at Sidney yesterday ended a 5½-hour international search when he spotted a California car carrying three children believed to be suffering from contact with an agricultural poison.

Don Wilson, a Victoria University student working during the summer months for the federal government, spotted the car coming off the Anacortes ferry at 5.45 p.m.

The visitors, James Thompson of Brawley, Calif., his wife Lois and children Anne, 5, Michael, 6, and John, 3, were taken under police escort to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where the children were released after a checkup.

Mr. Thompson, a junior high school principal in Brawley, said doctors explained to him the children would have become violently ill within six hours if they had been poisoned.

It was at first believed that they were ill, when RCMP sounded a general alert in British Columbia at 12.20 p.m. The report was originated from the Washington State Patrol, which said at least one of the children had been playing in a heavy concentration of aldrin, an agricultural poison which can be absorbed through the skin and could be fatal.

All Approaches Checked

The family spent three days at the Canby, Ore., farm of Mr. Thompson's father, also named James Thompson, until it was reported after their departure that young John and possibly the other children had been playing with a bucket of poison on the farm.

The Thompsons were on their way here for a week's holiday on Vancouver Island. Every highway and ferry approach to the Island as well as every border crossing point was checked by police and other officials.

Search for their light yellow station wagon pulling a house trailer spread through the Lower Mainland and into the Interior.

The B.C. government ferry Mv Tsawwassen was even delayed for 15 minutes at the mainland terminal when an RCMP car roared down to the dock with red light blinking and siren wailing. A policeman and B.C. toll authority officials searched the ferry and car lineup without success.

The Thompsons left the Oregon farm Sunday night, staying Monday night with friends in Poulsbo, Wash., where the children all went for a swim.

They were sitting in their station wagon at Anacortes yesterday waiting for the ferry to Sidney when they heard over their transistor radio an appeal broadcast for the public to be on the lookout for a car from California. But unsuspecting they let it pass because the name was given as Johnston and the licence plate numbers were different, said Mr. Thompson.

'Completely Puzzled'

Don Wilson, who spotted the car as it rolled off the ferry at Sidney, also said the licence plate and trailer color descriptions were inaccurate, "but the description matched vaguely and I reported it to a senior official."

Customs men asked Mr. Thompson to telephone RCMP, who advised him to drive straight to Victoria, where a doctor would be waiting. Police provided escorts along the way.

As he stepped from his station wagon at the hospital, Mr. Thompson told questioners: "We're completely puzzled. Apparently the youngsters came in contact with some kind of poison."

Mrs. Thompson said, "As far as I can tell, I'm sure they didn't go out to the barn (where the poison was kept)."

Her son Michael said, "John picked up a bucket and it looked like cement."

The school principal later said doctors told him "they were very happy to say our youngsters are all right, and we can go on and enjoy our holiday."

He said, "We feel the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and other police forces should be commended for their efficiency."

It was the family's second visit to Vancouver Island. They said it would not be their last. As they climbed back into their yellow station wagon, one of a half dozen news photographers standing by quipped, "You won't get the same reception next time."

Wide-eyed three-year-old John Thompson waits fearfully for doctor's assurance he is not poisoned, while his father, James Thompson of Brawley, Calif., wonders what the youngsters will be up to next. Authorities sought family to make sure children were safe.—(Colonist photo.)

Ex-Police Boss Held in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—A six-month probe into Quebec liquor police operations during the Union Nationale regime was climaxed spectacularly Tuesday when its former Quebec area director was charged with defrauding the public and the Quebec government of "at least $500,000."

SIX COUNTS

Bosario Lemire, 73, of suburban Charlesbourg, liquor police director for Quebec district for 20 years, was arraigned in criminal court on six counts of fraud.

Police were also holding two other men on related charges.

Six charges were read out against Lemire. They involve alleged fixing of expense accounts, payroll padding in an employee's favor, fabrication of expense statements to cover up work on his personal summer and winter residences, allowing liquor police employees to collect expenses while working in federal or provincial election campaigns, allowing smuggling and theft of liquor.

Articles Attack Takeover

Manner in which the B.C. Electric Co. was "confiscated" without regard to the rights of citizens is attacked in a two-part article starting today, by veteran federal government official and former envoy C. Norman Rosher, a resident of Victoria. First part appears on Page 5.

Residents Fleeing Threatened Towns

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—People fled three Bonavista Bay communities by sea and helicopter Tuesday while firefighters wearing smoke masks faced a roaring forest fire that has been burning steadily for more than two months.

Invalids were flown 30 miles by RCAF helicopter to Gander. Women and children from Musgrave Harbor, Dosting Cove and Ragged Harbor piled aboard the coastal vessels Nonia and Acadian bound for the safety of Fogo Island.

In B.C. wind dropped sharply in the Prince George area Tuesday, halting the progress of two huge forest fires threatening remote sawmill communities and rich stands of timber.

Forest service officials said it left them with a fighting chance to gain control of the blazes which raged over 55,000 acres.

New B.C. Bonds Over Top Already

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier Bennett's $100,000,000 B.C. Electric parity bond issue is already "over the top" as far as most Vancouver investment dealers are concerned. (See Page 6.)

The issue, announced last Friday, is due on the market today.

Dealers report extremely strong demand for the 5 per cent bonds, both locally and in eastern Canada, from large and small investors.

One dealer said he is already looking for additional bonds elsewhere to satisfy demand. Another said he could handle up to three times his allocation.

IQs Boosted By New Drug

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An experiment in which 400 children with learning problems were given a drug to increase alertness and IQ was confirmed yesterday as successful with a majority of the youngsters.

The test involved use of Deanol, in an experiment reported in the New York Journal of Medicine. The report said all but three per cent of the children showed increased alertness and other improvements. The average increase in IQ was 20½ points, according to the report.

One boy, who had an IQ of 40, showed an increase of 50 points after taking the test.

German Reds Call Meeting

BERLIN (Reuters)—The East German Volkskammer (parliament) will meet here Friday to discuss "questions concerning a peace treaty," it was announced last night. No further details were given.

NATO Closes Ranks

PARIS (Reuters)—The NATO council gave broad approval Tuesday to Western plans to meet Russia's Berlin challenge and decided to intensify consultations "in view of the seriousness of the situation."

The 15-nation council issued a communique after a two-hour secret meeting with United States Secretary Dean Rusk, who reported on his weekend consultations with the foreign ministers of Britain, West Germany and France.

The communique reiterated:

- A peaceful and just solution for the problems of Germany and Berlin is to be found only on the basis of self-determination.
- The West is determined to maintain the freedom of West Berlin and its 2,000,000 inhabitants.

Red Uprising Poses Real Berlin Danger

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An uprising in Communist East Germany would pose the "real" danger of war in Berlin, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D—Minn.) said yesterday.

Humphrey said he was confident Russian Premier Khrushchev primarily wants Western recognition of the treaty he will ultimately sign with East Germany.

The Russian leader is willing to leave the problem of West Berlin in a state of limbo "since he can make trouble there any time he wants to," Humphrey said.

- The Western allies cannot be deprived of their rights in Berlin and Russia cannot abdicate its guarantee of Western access to the divided city.

Diplomatic sources said the council gave broad approval to preparatory measures in the political, economic and military fields agreed upon by the foreign ministers.

Observers said the plans involved arrangements for strengthening NATO's conventional military forces in Europe, bringing them up to a level where they can confidently face the conventional forces Russia can effectively deploy on its western borders in Europe. This military objective can be quickly achieved, Allied officials say.

BIRD trainer Cecil Hyndman of Victoria claims to have the world's only talking seagull.

Two-year-old "Itchy," a female glaucous-winged gull who lives in the bedroom with Mr. and Mrs. Hyndman at "Featherland" wildlife gardens on Burnside Road, has a vocabulary of two words "Come here."

She repeats the sounds after Mr. Hyndman in a plaintive shriek. He has a tape recording to prove it.

Mr. Hyndman plugged in a tape recorder at the Colonist office and played a dialogue between himself and "Itchy" the seagull.

Mr. Hyndman was recognizable on the record, saying "Come here," followed by a high-pitched voice that echoed the tone of his words.

The five-minute tape recording was condensed from 10 hours of language instruction. The gull's voice seemed to become increasingly clear.

Itchy never did enunciate the words with precision. A gull hasn't the vocal equipment for that. However, she did seem to follow Mr. Hyndman's voice closely.

The trainer said: "Come here." The gull echoed "Uh-ccur."

* * *

"She has about 75 different vocal sounds," Mr. Hyndham said. "But this is a deliberate attempt to reproduce human words in English.

"The other talking birds all come from either the crow or the parrot family. We ourselves have trained three types of mynahs, budgerigars, parrots, magpies, two types of ravens, two types of crows and a macaw.

"All of these birds belong to either the crow or the parrot families. No one else to my knowledge has been able to train birds outside these two families to form human phrases. This is the first time it has been done.

"I have tried for a long time. This is what I have been looking forward to, for many years.

"I tried without success, except that I felt I had started something a year ago with a swallow and a sparrow, both of whom tried to say 'baby'. But they died before I could go any further with them.

"They were reared very intimately with us. The same has been true of this gull.

"I was present at her hatching. I have three other gulls that were hatched right in my house."

"Did you incubate them?" I asked.

"That can be conjectured," he said. "I'm not trying to give away my techniques." And he showed me photographs of a gull chick emerging from the shell. Mr. Hyndman is specially licensed by wildlife authorities to take and keep birds.

* * *

"Itchy was brought up on our bed and in our bedroom," said Mr. Hyndman. "That's the bird you are hearing on the tape record."

Mr. Hyndman looked at me with his head cocked to one side, as though daring me to challenge his integrity. He is a sharp-faced and highly-strung man who has an uncanny rapport with his birds.

Equally in tune with the feathered world is his wife, Adele, who knows how to talk to birds in the intense, high-pitched voice that inspires them to talk back.

Both the Hyndmans are serious about training and trying to communicate with birds. They look upon it as a scientific project.

Nevertheless, they sometimes allow themselves to lapse into cute endearments and figures of speech.

"Itchy is a very cultivated little girl, a very pretty little girl, very full of beauty," Mr. Hyndman said. "She thinks she's a sub-deb. She was a little irritated with me last night—took me below the eyes with her beak," he said, and pointed to a scar on the bridge of his nose.

* * *

I don't want to be rude about this, but I can't help noticing that Mr. Hyndman has some bird-like qualities, which seem to grow stronger as the years pass.

He said goodbye and made his way out by way of the door. One day I am going to forget myself and open a window to usher him out.

'Man Came Close To Real Tragedy'

A man who was told he had come "very close to real tragedy" yesterday was sentenced to eight months in jail for unlawfully discharging a firearm, endangering the life of another person.

Edward Darrell Miller, 22, of 645 Dunedin, had pleaded guilty to the offence last week, and was sentenced yesterday by Magistrate William Ostler in Saanich police court.

Endangered in the case was Reginald Raymond Schmidt, 23, who was peppered by wood splinters when a gun carried by Miller was discharged early July 30 at 333 Ker Avenue.

'FOOLISH THING'

"What happened was grave enough," Magistrate Ostler told Miller after reading probation and psychiatric reports. "But it could have been an awful lot more serious.

"You did an extraordinarily dangerous and foolish thing in loading that rifle before you took it to the house. . . . You are fortunate indeed that you are not charged with a graver offence."

* * *

In city court yesterday Magistrate Ostler sent an admitted narcotics addict to jail for two months. Henry White, no fixed address, had been too ill with withdrawal symptoms to appear in court Monday, when his name was first called on a vagrancy charge.

Police said accused had been picked up late Saturday in the 1400 block of Government, during a narcotics investigation. When checked he had no money, no fixed address and no job, and admitted being a user of drugs and an associate of users.

RECORD READ

When Det. Richard Berry had concluded his testimony, the magistrate asked White if he had any questions to ask the officer.

"I'm too sick right now," was the reply.

A police record was read which included two prior offences involving drugs, and Magistrate Ostler asked White:

"You have the habit now?"

"I'm just about finished with it."

'SINCE 1949'

To a question about work, White said he had been employed as a painter until about three weeks ago.

"How long have you had the habit?" the magistrate asked.

"I've been playing around with it since 1949," White replied.

* * *

Two other men were sent to jail yesterday, one each from Saanich and city courts.

In Saanich court Richard Allan Parker, 1971 Oak Bay, was given a three-month term for indecent assault on a young girl.

In the city, John Alexander Devine, 335 Huntington, was sentenced to four months for his share in breaking, entering and attempted theft June 22 at McLennan, McFeely and Prior warehouse, 2625 Government.

He had been remanded for probation report in view of a light past record. At the time of conviction his companion, Vernon Reid, 1213 Johnson, was sent to the penitentiary for 2½ years.

Devine was warned by the magistrate that "liquor and poor choice of companions are ruining your life and that of your family."

Dennis O'Brien, 327 Hillside, was fined $200 and remanded to Aug. 12 for a probation report on disposition of his driver's licence, after pleading guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

Fishing Curbs Ordered As Sockeye Run Thins

BELLINGHAM (AP) — The waters west of Williams Head International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission clapped restrictions on both U.S. and Canadian fishermen Tuesday, saying too few sockeye salmon are moving up the Fraser River to spawn.

American fishermen will be limited to 16 hours this week and Canadian fishermen east of the Williams Head-Angela Point line will not be allowed to fish until Sunday.

ONLY 310,000

The commission said the total escapement during the present extended closure has been only 310,000 sockeye. These fish are destined primarily for the Quesnel and Stuart Lake spawning grounds, which had more than 750,000 spawners in 1957.

TIMES LISTED

Fishing in U.S. convention waters by purse seiners and reef nets will start at 5 a.m. PDT Thursday and close at 9 p.m. Thursday. Fishing by gillnets will be from 7 p.m. Thursday to 9 a.m. Friday. Fishing by purse seines and reef nets next week will start at 5 a.m. Tuesday and close at 9 p.m. Wednesday. Fishing by gill nets will be from 7 p.m. Tuesday to 9 a.m. Thursday.

Canadian waters lying east of the Williams Head-Angela Point line will be open for fishing from 6 a.m. Sunday until 6 a.m. Wednesday. Canadian waters west of the line will be open from 6 a.m. Wednesday until 6 p.m. Thursday.

Director Lloyd Royal said the originally scheduled opening of Canadian waters on Thursday will be delayed 72 hours because fish accumulating in the Gulf of Georgia failed to migrate upstream in the expected volume.

"This again emphasizes the obvious effectiveness of the large Canadian West Coast and Puget Sound fishing fleet," Royal said.

Rest Best Treatment In Painful Attacks

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please write something about 'mittelschermz,' or inter-menstrual pain. At times my pain is so severe that I wonder if it could be something else.

"I get these pains for about three or four months, then for three months I don't have any trouble. Also what would cause me to have a pain in my shoulder which happened during one of my severe attacks? I am 41, have four children and have had two miscarriages. I am very nervous and have an abnormal fear of cancer.—Mrs. D. L."

I guess there's nothing we can do about that abnormal fear of cancer. That is quite normal these days. It's quite understandable that we worry about cancer when we have some pain or other condition we can't immediately identify.

However, learn something about mittelschmerz before you commit yourself to worrying about cancer. Mittelschmerz is a German word meaning "middle pain." It occurs (if at all) at about mid-cycle in the menstrual schedule.

Scientifically we have to admit that we don't know exactly what causes this pain in some women. Some have it; most don't.

The pain can be mild or so severe as to mimic appendicitis or other acute abdominal conditions. The pain varies very widely in intensity and from one side to the other.

PAIN KILLERS

I regret to say there is no successful treatment except rest at the time of the attacks and pain killers. Narcotics should be avoided. There are, however, medications and combinations of drugs which can ease the discomfort.

The pain, fortunately is usually, of short duration, but in severe cases it may last a day or more. Mittelschmerz is not a sign of cancer or any other ovarian disease.

East Germans Respond With Rush for Freedom

BERLIN (UP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's no-concessions speech sent East German refugees pouring through the West Berlin escape hatch yesterday in the greatest numbers since before the 1953 East German revolt.

The West German press office said 1,741 East Germans sought asylum here in 24 hours—an eight-year record. They said it was the highest total for one day since May 28, 1953, when 2,793 fled to freedom.

11,000 IN WEEK

Yesterday's refugees brought the total since Aug. 1 to nearly 11,000, also the highest in one week since before the revolt.

Last month, 30,215 East Germans streamed across the border to asylum, another eight-year record.

Communist border controls were believed to have turned back hundreds of others.

The refugees interpreted Khrushchev's speech as indicating West Berlin's communications with the West might remain open...but its borders with the East would be sealed soon.

West German minister for all-German affairs, Ernst Lemmer, called the increase in refugees "staggering." West Berlin officials made plans to open a 16th transit camp for fugitives awaiting flights to West Germany.

An East German foreign office spokesman said Khrushchev was "not as hard as he might have been."

But East Germans thought otherwise, and showed so with their feet.

One woman refugee reported seven controls on the 30-mile train journey from Templin to Berlin. Witnesses said 65 border police were on duty yesterday at the Schoenefeld control point between East Germany and East Berlin.

They were reported to have arrested 218 persons trying to reach freedom.

Yesterday's refugees included a director of a book publishing house in Leipzig, Werner Rittner, who got the post when his predecessor fled to the West three years ago.

Twin Babies Not Twins

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Doctors say two babies, born two minutes apart to Mrs. Leonard Shaffer on Saturday, are not twins. One called the case "one of the rarest occurrences in human births."

Michelle was an eight-pounds baby, while her brother Michael was a full-term, nine-pounds infant.

Stiff Fight Ahead

Senator's Law To Stop Hoffa

WASHINGTON (CP)—The chief of a three-year Senate investigation into labor racketeering says he is drafting legislation "to stop Jimmy Hoffa and his gang from taking over control of the United States labor movement."

But Senator John L. McClellan says he will likely face a stiff battle to get his bill through Congress "unless I have the sympathetic support of legitimate elements of American labor."

He said his bill, which he is putting into final shape, will be introduced before the current session of Congress ends. While declining to discuss details, he indicated the effect to his plan would be similar to the operation of anti-trust laws to prevent Hoffa's Teamsters Union from seizing control of other transportation unions.

"If he gets hold of all the transportation unions — and that is his intention—then he will be in a position to call a national transportation strike and paralyze the economy," the Arkansas Democrat said.

'Like Real Pilot' Says Spaceman

MOSCOW (AP)—Maj. Gherman Titov, who gets a huge Red Square welcome today for his 17-circuit trip around the earth in a Soviet space ship, said Tuesday he manned controls of his two-ton ship aloft and in landing.

"When I had the control of the space ship in my hands I felt like the real pilot," he said in an interview with the government newspaper Izvestia. "The first impression of these manual controls was very good."

How much control the 26-year-old air force pilot actually had and for what period was not indicated in the article.

He said the ship easily obeyed the manual controls.

ANY DIRECTION

"I was able to orient it in any direction. Also when I was landing I operated the controls."

Titov was believed to be already in Moscow for the celebration. Premier Khrushchev will give a Kremlin reception for the space man tonight.

"The earth is exceedingly beautiful from that height," Titov said. "Blue halos on the horizon were really indescribably beautiful."

The space man said the moon appeared to float by his seemingly motionless space vehicle.

Eichmann Centre Of Slaughterhouse

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Attorney-General Gideon Hausner of Israel pictured Adolf Eichmann yesterday as a central figure in a "giant slaughterhouse" who was willing to follow Hitler "even to the depths of hell."

Hausner, delivering his closing address in the marathon trial, scathingly repudiated Eichmann's claim that he was only a small cog in the Nazis' extermination of millions of Jews.

STOOD IN CENTRE

"... We claim that he stood in the centre of the giant slaughterhouse and was in charge of the implementation of these crimes in all sectors," Hausner said.

"The shadows of Hitler and his accomplices are hovering around us — those ghoulish persons whom humanity will forever remember," Hausner said.

SOON TWITCHING

Eichmann looked calm and rested as he returned to his glass cage in the courtroom after a 15-day recess in the trial. But his face soon began twitching nervously and he pursed his lips as Hausner launched into a recital of Nazi atrocities.

Not once, Hausner said, had the court heard "a single word of regret or repentance from him ... not a syllable of remorse."

ONLY REGRET

"If the Nazis ever showed regret it was because the loath some work was not completed," said Hausner.

Court officials expected Hausner's summing up to last about three days. The court is then expected to adjourn for another day or two before Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann's West German defence counsel, delivers his address.

The three judges are not expected to hand down their verdict until October.

Anti-Communist

Dr. Frank Buchman MRA Founder Dies

FREUDENSTADT, West Germany (Reuters) — Dr. Frank Buchman, founder of the Moral Re-Armament Movement, died Monday night. He was 83.

The Moral Re-Armament Movement, which claims world statesmen among its adherents, has been prominent in post-war years as an anti-Communist organization.

Buchman was an American-born Lutheran minister of Swiss descent. His career and his movement aroused much controversy.

In 1938 he inaugurated in London a campaign for a world-wide spiritual revival to prevent war. At that time he was leader of what was known as the Oxford Group.

Dr. Morris Martin, a British member of MRA, said Buchman died Monday night after "a very short illness" from a heart attack.

In the complaint he said the officers took him to a cemetery where they threatened to bury him alive if he did not confess to the murder of a transient.

Pushing the Peace

WITH what might even seem indecent haste Premier Bennett has swung the Peace River development into action. Within a week the B.C. Electric has been taken over, a new board of directors named, a huge bank loan arranged, and an immediate start on the vast northern project envisaged.

Last week's happenings clarified what has always been apparent, that the Premier's primary aim was to push the Peace development, come what may on the Columbia. While paying lip service to the thesis that both projects could proceed together, the opening up of the northland via the Peace hydro scheme is his particular ambition.

It is possible that as far as the Columbia is concerned he couldn't care less, except as it might be utilized to help pay for the Peace.

Vision needs boldness to pursue and Mr. Bennett does not lack courage or enterprise. The development of the Peace River area can provide great things for B.C. There is always the danger, however, that zeal might overreach itself.

By contrast with the quickening tempo of the Peace project the Columbia languishes in a backwater.

Undoubtedly Mr. Bennett feels he has trumped the Columbia ace. The energy board's report suits his designs—the rival Peace and Columbia schemes are said to be approximately equal in costs—and he is free to go ahead with the Peace.

From his standpoint it is up to the federal government to bow to his export-of-power demand or drop the Columbia altogether. He has shrewdly manoeuvred himself into a dominant position.

It now seems fairly clear that Mr. Bennett's conflict with Ottawa over remission of corporation taxes on BCE profits and consequent reduction of electricity rates, was only an excuse for the take-over of the BCE.

Mr. Bennett knew that the Wenner-Gren interests could not continue the Peace River development unless they had a captive market for their electrical product. The only such captive market was held by B.C. Electric, and apparently that company would not play ball with the premier, so he took them over.

The ban on the export of power is a policy Mr. Bennett can challenge. Both gas and oil are allowed to flow freely from Canada and these are resources that cannot be replenished. Water makes electricity and water replenishes itself. At least no one expects the Peace or the Columbia to dry up.

British Columbia has a surfeit of potential hydro power, and this advantage Premier Bennett has been quick to sense. Of itself B.C. does not need the potential of both rivers and will not for perhaps 25 years. The Peace alone can supply all expected provincial needs for the next 15 or 20 years.

This is why he can afford to let the Columbia lie fallow unless Ottawa permits its power export through sale of all downstream benefits.

Mr. Bennett probably knows he has the Diefenbaker government in somewhat of a cleft stick. Having signed a treaty with the U.S. government Ottawa would be in a highly embarrassing position if through Canadian action—no matter it would be provincial action—the treaty was nullified by this country. The compulsion thus put on Ottawa to submit to Mr. Bennett's export demand is strong.

All the cards are not in Mr. Bennett's hands, however. A collapse of the Columbia scheme could and probably would alienate the American Northwestern states awaiting development of this hydro potential and create a climate of opinion unfavorable to B.C. It could invite retributive action on other trade and commercial matters, or at least make difficult the norm of neighborly relations.

This is something that even in his most ebullient mood Premier Bennett can scarcely ignore.

The UN and China

IT IS CONFIDENTLY expected among her close allies that the United States will not oppose Communist China's application for membership in the United Nations when the issue next comes before the General Assembly.

The majority of Western nations, Britain and Canada among them, presently favor the admission —and subsequent diplomatic recognition—of the Peking government, looking upon it as a logical step toward the international body achieving its ultimate goal of embracing all nations of the world, regardless of their individual political ideologies.

Little attempt has been made to hide from Washington their view that the American policy of denying the largest nation in the world its place in the international parliament is both unrealistic and dangerous. If the United States continues its dogmatic way, they say, it could result in the weakening of the effectiveness of the organization as a whole.

They argue that it is only logical for the United States to accept the fact that China exists as a world force whether or not she is recognized.

Using the present inconclusive Laotian talks as a persuader, they warn that if President Kennedy continues to reject the establishment of diplomatic relations between Washington and Peking he will also be casting aside any hope of open negotiation between the two countries on any future problems that may arise.

Even more vociferous in their support of China's entry are the newly independent African and Asian nations which, en bloc, make up a powerful voting segment in the General Assembly.

It is now obvious that this group of nations will throw its voting weight behind the Soviet Union and its satellites in the next move to bring China into the UN. It is not unlikely that Britain and the other Commonwealth nations will either do the same or abstain from voting at all.

The implications of such a face-losing situation has not escaped Washington. In an apparent massive realignment of its former policy the American government has not only decided to offer no objection to the requested recognition of the Communist government of Outer Mongolia, but is also doing its best to break down Formosa's resistance to its application.

President Kennedy himself warned the Nationalist Chinese vice-president, Chen Cheng, that the Formosan government may be cutting its own throat if it attempts to veto Outer Mongolia's membership.

Taking this as a tacit admission that the United States has finally decided to reverse its stand over the Chinese mainland Communist regime, Mr. Chen is reported to have left Washington in high dudgeon.

If Mr. Chen's interpretation is right, President Kennedy's decision is a courageous one which might lead to severe criticism not only from Formosa, South Korea and a handful of other anti-Communist Asian diehards but from his own people, whose temper has recently shown they are in no mood now to back down in the face of Moscow or Peking threats.

Thinking Aloud

"... of thee, and thine, and all, and nothing mae. . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

AT a recent Washington convention theologians were wrestling with conscience and the morality of using hydrogen bombs against a city in wartime.

Morality and war are not very compatible although it is only recently that much thought has been given to the subject. Through the long centuries of the past either the theologians paid no attention or else they thought all war was immoral and did not try to define the business half way.

For instance it is drawing a fine line to suggest, as was done at the conference, that it would be all right to obliterate a city by nuclear means provided advance notice had been given and the citizens had time to clear out.

If enough cities were destroyed in any one country there wouldn't be much left for the citizens to return to and conceivably their fate would be most unpleasant.

It could be deemed immoral if they were thereby robbed of the means to exist.

* * *

It is regrettable but a fact that all through history scant consideration was given to the morality of warfare. And it is not only recently that civilians have been involved in the perils of war. In olden days, those of Genghis Khan for instance—and those of many other conquering "heroes"—civilians were as readily killed as soldiers.

That must have been considered the norm; taken for granted and not regarded as immoral.

And obviously for many a threatened city in ancient days the onslaught of a merciless invader would seem as disastrous as does the prospect of a nuclear bomb in modern times.

Even the Israelites used fire and sword in their conquering excursions. Indeed Field Marshal Montgomery suggests that Moses kept them in the desert for 40 years so that he could breed and train a fine fighting race.

And some innocent and guilty alike must have fallen before the Israelite thrusts.

That is no reason of course why at this late date the moral conscience should not be aroused in an effort to intervene. Better late than never.

The problem is vast, however, and patently hard to resolve.

Degrees of killing always are. Is it more moral to kill only one man, for instance, than three men? This kind of query bedevils the question.

* * *

The soldier or the civilian of the past was no less immorally destroyed by conventional weapons—although the word "conventional" in this context is really a mockery—than by nuclear or hydrogen weapons.

Nothing much can be said for the man in uniform, I suppose. He is beyond either the moral or the immoral aspect; a kind of legitimate target even though he might have donned a uniform simply to protect the civilians whom it would be immoral to attack.

That thought alone shows how delicate and difficult the problem has become in an era where the sheer mass of the subject is overwhelming.

It is the number of potential victims that has aroused the moral conscience; the possible destruction of millions of people in the event of an all-out nuclear war.

The holocaust among civilian populations in the last war was bad enough, but the future looms more ominously if open conflict is not prevented.

Thus the heart-wrenching—sincere and earnest—of theologians plagued as never before is grappling with a profound and difficult question.

Therefore, if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature. II Corinthians 5:17.

Washington Calling

The Cost Will Be Heavy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE rift in the United States and the West of the tragic conflict between France and Tunisia over the Bizerte base cannot yet be reckoned with any final accuracy. But one thing is certain—it will be very heavy.

Tunisia, under the leadership of President Habib Bourguiba, has been one of the most hopeful of the new nations. Speaking for those who have believed in a fruitful co-operation with the former colonial powers, he has been a kind of bridge between the new and the old. While it is too early for a final judgment, what has been risked is his complete alienation from the West and the United States.

At the same time President de Gaulle, by his contemptuous treatment of the United Nations and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, has delivered another body blow to the world organization. De Gaulle's attitude approximates that of Premier Khrushchev, who has deliberately set out to destroy Hammarskjold and the effectiveness of the UN.

That the UN has been gravely weakened and its future put in jeopardy by events of the past year is undeniable.

* * *

What is important, in the view of this observer, is to try to understand Bourguiba's position. With all the emphasis on Berlin and the need for "unity" with the French in the Berlin crisis, the action of the Tunisians in demanding that the French evacuate the Bizerte base has been regarded almost as a deliberate nuisance created at a most inconvenient time. This has seemed to Tunisians to be the perspective of Washington officialdom from Secretary of State Dean Rusk on down. The American ambassador in Tunis, Newbold Walmsley, has been frantically trying, and in vain, to get some sort of policy declaration out of this government.

As the record shows, Bourguiba has sought for more than three years to negotiate with the French the principle of ultimate French evacuation of the Bizerte naval base. Foreign bases were being given up in Morocco and elsewhere in North Africa. Nationalist pressures both from within Tunisia and from outside were directed against Bourguiba with the charge that he is the complacent stooge of the West.

Then in early July the French took down the barriers of the base to enlarge the runways. This seemed to President Bourguiba a deliberate affront and provocation playing directly into the hands of his enemies.

Having only recently returned from what had seemed to be a highly successful goodwill visit to Washington, Bourguiba thought he could at the very least count on President Kennedy to persuade de Gaulle to mediate the dispute and get an agreement to negotiate the principle of evacuation. His next move—an announced blockade of the means of access from the base to the city of Bizerte—may have been foolhardy, as was the attempt to claim a strip of the Sahara which is supposedly Tunisian territory. But it must be measured against the pressures threatening his entire position.

* * *

A tragic sequence of events followed. President Bourguiba sent a personal appeal to President de Gaulle for negotiation. This was ignored. Paris newspapers carried reports that French paratroopers were to be flown into Bizerte. Tunisia announced that any violation of the Tunisian air space would be met with force.

The paratroopers were flown in from Bone in Algeria. A French plane was fired upon. French forces then proceeded to take most of the city of Bizerte, with 600 Tunisians killed. The charge is made, denied by the French, that napalm bombs were used. Whatever the truth may be, the Tunisian Embassy here has some photographs of human cinders that will be used in the case to be presented to a special session of the UN General Assembly if such a session is called.

So will the evidence the Tunisians claim they have that rockets and bombs used against them originated in the United States for use by French NATO forces. This is considered documentation for the Arab-Asian-African charge that NATO is "imperialist." It is no accident that the distinguished visitor who has just been here, Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Belewa of Nigeria, one of Africa's principal leaders, has sided strongly with Tunisia.

* * *

The extent of the damage done will depend in part on whether there is a special Assembly session. With the fighting stopped, even though under an uneasy truce and the Security Council unable to agree on a course of action, the hope is that the two governments can work out a compromise settlement. But this assumes that de Gaulle is able to exercise authority over the French army and navy.

France under de Gaulle has refused to allow American nuclear-carrying planes to be stationed, under NATO, on French soil. France has not allowed her navy in the Mediterranean to be integrated with NATO. The war in Algeria is still unresolved and the great bulk of French land forces are there. The claim of the French that it is necessary to secure Bizerte for strength in the Berlin crisis must be measured against these facts. The Kremlin may well be chalking up Tunisia as one of the first gains of that crisis.

How Far Has Russia Come?

Road to Utopia

By AL KAPITZA, from London; Telegram News Service

DICTATORSHIP of the proletariat has completed its historical task in the Soviet Union.

"The chief aim of Soviet policy today is to provide peaceful conditions for the building of Communism as a prototype society for all mankind."

These are the claims of Premier Nikita Khrushchev and his Soviet Communist party today.

If they are true, they represent the complete fulfilment of the dream shared by a hot-eyed band of bearded Marxist conspirators who met in the basement of a west-end London church 48 years ago.

The conspirators were escapers from the Siberian jails of Czar Nicholas—penniless exiles on the run.

They met to form the Russian Social Democratic Labor Party—cellar-sized forerunner of the Communist party machine that straddles two continents today.

Among them was Vladimir Ilyitch Lenin, sharp-eyed, sharp-bearded, sharp-tongued former lawyer, a short dynamo of a man driven by one governing passion—revolution in Russia. By his side was a young firebrand named Leon Trotsky.

* * *

When the strident little group split into two factions Lenin and Trotsky led the larger.

They called themselves Bolsheviki. They formulated a drastic program: social revolution, the dictatorship of the proletariat.

That first program was fulfilled in 14 years.

In 1917, as the Czar's armies reeled and crumbled under German hammer blows, a sealed train passed through the German lines and steamed into Petrograd—Lenin's homecoming.

Six months later, Lenin's red guards of rebellious sailors and workmen battled the Czarist army for 10 days, then captured power.

In 1919, Lenin's Communist party adopted a second program. It called for the building of a "socialist society" a planned economy ruled by a party dictatorship.

It took 31 years to realize that.

Soon after its inauguration, Russia was in the grip of full-scale civil war. Then came famine. An ailing Lenin, who died in 1924, decreed the firing squad for food hoarders and restored a measure of capitalism to keep the factories humming.

Greater trials lay ahead—the life-wasting battle to collectivize the peasants, Stalin's rise and ruthless purges—of which Trotsky was an early victim.

Greatest trial of all—the "great patriotic war," in which 17,000,000 Russians perished.

* * *

No one has calculated how many millions died in the 36 years of struggles and forced sacrifice between the revolution and the rise of Nikita Khrushchev, a product of Lenin's society, to supreme power.

What had been achieved?

In 1960, Khrushchev boasted Russia was socialist. In theory, this meant that every Russian was rewarded by society according to his contribution to society.

The task for the second half of the twentieth century, said Mr. Khrushchev, was Communism—a state in which every working Russian would be rewarded according to his need.

Russia, he could boast, was the leader of the world's Communist bloc, the world's second industrial nation, the world pioneer in space and perhaps the strongest military nation on earth.

But the facts are that the Russians, though far better fed, housed and dressed than the millions in India and China, live on a material level known to only the poorest in the Western world.

The Communist world is in the grip of severe food shortages and the Communists must still rely on coercion to rule their own people.

What the Russians can realistically expect from the new program is massive industrial expansion, the widening of an already impressive educational program, a lessening of abuse from bureaucrats and racketeers, a continued emphasis on peace psychology and a looming battle to protect their stability from the disruption of zealous revolutionaries in China.

It is the brightest prospect Russians have known.

But it is not bright enough to assure Khrushchev and his successors of the esprit and aggression needed to perform the strenuous task of "surpassing America."

The Packsack

Younger Already

By GREGORY CLARK

WHEN Lord Bertrand Russell was being interviewed on the British TV recently, he was asked, as he sat there sipping at his pipe, how long he had smoked a pipe. The old philosopher is now in his ninetieth year.

"Oh, something over 70 years," said he.

"Do you think it has shortened your life?" asked the interviewer.

"On the contrary," said Lord Russell. And he proceeded to tell the story of being wrecked in an aircraft during the war off the Norwegian coast. Smoking was prohibited in all but the rear six rows of seats in the plane. In the wreck, only those in the tail survived, and Lord Russell, then in his seventies, after swimming about in the sea for an hour or two, was rescued after having had a most interesting conversation with one of his fellow swimmers along philosophical lines. Interesting, he reflected, in consideration of their predicament.

So I had a newspaper friend in Britain call Lord Russell and get the name of the tobacco he smokes. He has smoked the same brand for 60 years. I got a pound of it sent out to me. It is very mild but seductive. I am expecting to become philosophical any day now, and two or three of my friends have told me I look younger already.

Walter Ulbricht

East Germany's Boss

By FRANK HAARHOFF, Telegram News Service

ONE of Nikita Khrushchev's toughest vassals is a goat-bearded man with an arm-long Communist record whose iron fist rules over the lives of 17,000,000 people and might one day rule over the access routes to West Berlin—East Germany's boss, Walter Ulbricht.

His reign began one day at the end of April, 1945, when an American-built Russian aircraft touched down on East Berlin's Schoenefeld airport, carrying 13 German Communist leaders from their Moscow exile to the burning, devastated city where the battle around Hitler's chancellery was still going on. One of them was Walter Ulbricht, well known among German Communists, for his career as a disciple of Marx and Engels had started at an early age.

* * *

Born June 30, 1893, in Leipzig son of a tailor, Ulbricht became a member of the Socialist Workers' Youth at 15. As a young carpenter of 19, he joined the left-wing faction of the Socialist party. In the spring of 1918 he spent two months in jail because he had tried to defect from the army. The same year he was charged with making Communist propaganda and arrested again. He managed to escape to Leipzig, however, where he joined the Communist party. He got to know an Austrian jail when he served a 10-month term because of Communist agitation in that country. After two years as a Communist member of the German Reichstag, he was arrested in 1930 and charged with high treason. Following a two-year prison term, Ulbricht emigrated to Moscow in 1933 via Paris and Prague. From 1936 until 1938 he participated in the Spanish Civil War.

Soon after his return to Germany in April, 1945, he became first secretary of the Central Committee of the (Communist) Social Unity Party, product of the forced merger of the Social Democratic Party and the Communist Party. He has run the East German regime ever since from a stately office in Niederschoenhausen Palace in the Pankow district of Berlin.

* * *

According to his wife, Lotte, he starts the day with a 10-minute exercise in his house near Liepnitz Lake. His hobbies range from sports to the creative arts to literature, but, Lotte Ulbricht once revealed in a newspaper article, "there is no difference between my husband's political and his private life."

She admitted that Ulbricht reads Lenin, Marx, Engels, Liebknecht, Goethe and Schiller. And she said he was especially interested in economics.

But the knowledge he thus acquires is obviously not enough to keep his burghers in the country and to prevent serious economic troubles. As a result of Ulbricht's failure, opposition is growing in East Germany. And according to the press service of West Germany's Social Democrats, opposition groups have informed Moscow behind the back of Herr Ulbricht who is to blame for the situation.

Walter Ulbricht's explanations for the mass flights of people and for supply difficulties, said the reports, were made in attempts to mislead the Kremlin.

Political observers in West Germany doubt, however, that this information would do East Germany's boss any harm. Walter Ulbricht is regarded in Moscow as a loyal follower of Khrushchev, and a front man for whom there is hardly any "ersatz" in Communist East Germany.

Bennett Act Disregards Rights

B.C. Legislature Blamed For Complacent Attitude

By C. NORMAN SENIOR

First of Two Parts

The government and legislature of British Columbia were remiss in their public duty when in three short days, without critical examination, they enacted one of the most far-reaching measures in the history of the province, the Power Development Act, 1961.

The fact that there was no serious opposition in bringing the B.C. Electric Co. and the Peace River Power Development Co. under public ownership does not free the government from its duty to lay the facts fully before the people, nor does it free the legislature from its duty to investigate and criticize every detail of the bill. A transaction involving six or seven hundred million dollars is not trivial even in Social Credit economics.

Public Deprived

Aside from what must now be appreciated as a calculated leak to the one Ottawa correspondent there was no program of public education preparatory to the stunning announcement on Aug. 1. A valuable opportunity for drawing public attention to the implications of the measure was sacrificed in refusing the customary debate on the speech from the throne. That this also involved discourtesy to the Crown is perhaps of less importance than that it was a dictatorial procedure depriving the public of information and enlightenment.

Terms Wide Open

The terms of the bill are wide open to criticism. The motivation and content are highly questionable. It was the duty of the legislature to expose these.

Having regard to the issues of the recent provincial election campaign the government's action in doing exactly what it was elected to prevent is a piece of political immorality without parallel except in terms there was no democracy about it.

The act is one of confiscation, not expropriation. Both in the suddenness with which it was presented and jammed through a complacent legislative assembly, and in its the record of Premier Bennett's administration.

Making due allowance for CCF glee in having their socialist theories put into practice, this is not the kind of measure one would have expected from a social democratic administration. For regard of the rights of the public at large and of the persons affected.

Municipalities have had their taxation rights taken away from them and are left dependant on the grace of a ministry none too considerate of municipal problems. Shareholders are deprived of the right to arbitrate and negotiate their compensation through traditional expropriation procedure.

One-Sided Decision

Mr. Bennett has made a one-sided decision as to what some thousands of citizens of British Columbia shall receive in return for their confiscated property.

The bill bears on its face the evidence of hasty and sloppy draftsmanship. It is full of such vague phrases as "notwithstanding anything to the contrary." Such language leaves the door wide open for litigation.

Objectionable

The method of deciding the compensation payable to Peace River Power Development Co. is especially objectionable. The comptroller-general is to decide and there shall be no appeal. The comptroller-general can be assumed to be an honest man. He will decide on the evidence before him. His main, perhaps his only, source of information as to what is due to the Peace River Power Development Co. will be what he gets from that company.

No Safeguards

One may be sure the company will make out a good case for itself. Expropriation procedure calls for presentation of the other side of the argument, a critical consideration to the claimant's case. At the end there is an appeal to the courts where the facts can be exposed to public examination.

The procedure laid down in the Power Development Act has none of these safeguards. That provision of the act should have been fought out in the legislature to the last ditch.

Services Confined

The motivation of the act is not that with which Canadians are accustomed in their acceptance of public ownership of power. The Ontario Tory manufacturers who initiated Ontario's famous "Hydro" did so because private power companies, shrewdly according to their own interests, declined to extend their operations to give service in the small towns and on the farms. As practical business men the directors of power companies confined their services to the large and densely populated areas.

Similar Situation

It was to meet a similar situation that a former B.C. government established the B.C. Power Commission. There would have been good sense in carrying out the ultimate provisions of the act which created the commission by authorizing it to proceed with expropriation of the B.C. Electric. That is what the CCF advocated. But it is not what Mr. Bennett has done.

If we were to believe Mr. Bennett, as some people seem to do, his reason for seizing the B.C. Electric was to "gyp" the federal government out of a couple of million dollars a year of taxes. The unhappy taxpayers of the province may awaken some day to find that two can play at that game. The provincial government is still dependant on Ottawa for substantial amounts of revenue.

Could Be Costly

The Bennett theory is that B.C. has been short-changed on its share of corporation tax because the B.C. Electric, pursuant to a special provision, has retained $42,000,000 of corporation tax due the federal government. As it it still in the BCE treasury it is now the property of the B.C. government. But it is tax overdue to Ottawa. Mr. Bennett is not likely to give it up. A Supreme Court decision will be required and who is to say now where the rights lie? It could be expensive to B.C. taxpayers.

Scrutiny Needed

It is in the context of the whole power problem that this bill requires the closest examination. An exceedingly pertinent part of that context is to be found in the report of the provincial advisory committee on energy, popularly identified as the Shrum report. Only a few copies of this report were printed and the abolition of the debate on the address deprived the legislature of the opportunity to analyse its implications effectively.

Peace Team May Work For BCE

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Crown-owned B.C. Electric Company is considering re-employment of the engineering consultants who plotted the Peace River hydro-electric scheme for its private promoters.

Board chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum said the question was discussed during a meeting with International Power and Engineering Consultants Limited.

"We are thinking of using them as consultants because they have already done some of the work," Dr. Shrum said Tuesday.

He said talks with Thomas Ingledow, president of the consulting firm, and Sir Andrew McTaggart, president of Peace River Power Development Company, did not include a discussion of the price the government will pay for PRPD plans and surveys.

Explorer's Note Found

OTTAWA (CP)—A note by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, leader of Canada's first Arctic expedition nearly 50 years ago, has been found.

Dated June 14, 1915, a note was found in a stone cairn at the north end of Prince Patrick Island, a flat mass of land on the western fringe of the Arctic Archipelago, about 1,000 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Takeover Provides No Right of Appeal

TORONTO (CP) — A. J. Milner of Toronto, president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, said the expropriation by the British Columbia government of the B.C. Electric Company was unjust.

Mr. Milner, in a prepared statement, urged the provincial government to enter into negotiation to establish a fair basis for expropriation of the giant utility.

"In the interests of justice, provision should be made for arbitration and independent appraisal of expropriated assets," Mr. Milner said.

He pointed to the earlier takeover of West Canadian Hydro-Electric Corporation by the B.C. Power Commission, when the provincial Supreme Court ruled that the value of the utility was based on three main factors: Prospects for future earnings, original cost and replacement cost of assets, and recent prices paid for similar utility properties.

'NO APPEAL'

"These considerations are fair and equitable. However, the expropriation of the British Columbia Electric Company provides no right of appeal. It seems inconceivable in a democratic society that any government can expropriate the properties of others on its own terms without provision for appeal."

BENEFIT LOST

Under announced terms of the expropriation the government is exchanging interest-bearing debentures for publicly-held preferred B.C. Electric stock.

Mr. Milner said investors who hold the preferred shares will lose the benefit of the 20 per cent federal income tax credit on their dividends.

WOULD HELP

"If the government of the province . . . were to provide the machinery for arbitration as we suggest, it would greatly help to restore the shaken confidence of Canadian and foreign investors in the integrity of this government and in the conditions for investment in private industry in B.C.," Mr. Milner said.

Handshake with Gagarin Raises Hopes of Immigrant

MONTREAL (CP) — Sam Ross of West Kildonan, Man., who travelled to Pugwash, N.S., last week to meet Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin, said Tuesday he stopped the space pilot long enough to shake his hand and say: "God bless you."

The Polish-born Canadian said the trip to Pugwash was part of a campaign he began in 1957 seeking the permission of Soviet authorities to bring his father to Canada.

"I think I achieved something," Ross said. "(Russian ambassador) Mr. Aroutunian promised to look into it as soon as he gets back to Ottawa."

Mr. Ross said he has not seen his father for 23 years, and first learned he was alive in Russia in 1957.

ARMED WITH LETTERS

He set out for Pugwash armed with letters from the mayor and police chief of the Winnipeg suburb of West Kildonan, where he has lived for 14 years.

Since 1957, Mr. Ross said, he has "tried everything" to effect his father's release, including a letter to Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

STAYING WITH FRIENDS

Mr. Ross now is staying with friends in Montreal, and plans to leave for Winnipeg "in a few days."

Car Plunges Near Terrace

Three Injured Four Missing

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—Three — possibly four — persons were killed Tuesday when their car plunged off Highway 16 into the Skeena River at Exstew Crossing, 20 miles southeast of here.

Three others were injured.

Missing and presumed dead are Mary Gunanoot, Loretta Smith and Leon Zordealeau, all of Hazelton. Brought to hospital here with slight injuries were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green and Ivan Lawson, also of Hazelton.

Police said there may have been a seventh person in the car.

Police recovered the car but there was no sign of the bodies. The doors of the car were closed but the windshield was smashed.

The mishap was discovered by coach driver Stu Meldrum of Prince Rupert, who brought the injured to this town 500 miles north of Vancouver.

CPA Has Good Chance Of Polar Run to U.K.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian Pacific Airlines stands an extra good chance of getting a crack soon at the lucrative trans-polar air route right into London, England, reliable sources said Tuesday.

Final decision on CPA's long-standing bid for access to London—open only to Trans-Canada Air Lines now—is up to the federal cabinet, which meets today.

Announcement is expected soon, although it may not come immediately.

The privately-owned airline needs only a government go-ahead to move into London in competition with the publicly-owned TCA, under the existing Canada-United Kingdom bilateral air agreement.

A special committee of the cabinet has been considering CPA's bid for the route to London for several months.

TCA is understood to have opposed the application.

Scoutmaster Saves Four, Dies in Lake

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (UPI)—Two American Scouts drowned yesterday in Lake Erie near here.

The two were identified as Assistant Scoutmaster Donald Tice, 37, and Larry Bialik, 12, both of North Tonawanda, N.Y.

They were among a party of six Scouts from nearby Tomahawk Scout Camp.

Witnesses said Tice went into the water to rescue the other five Scouts who were having trouble swimming back to the shore. Together with some men on the beach he carried back four Scouts. Then he went to get Bialik. Neither of them was seen again.

Castro Now Controls Spending

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro announced Tuesday night harsh new economic controls over the spending habits of millions of Cubans, limiting the total bank deposits they are allowed and restricting the amount of cash they can withdraw.

The measure followed by three days a change-over of currency in which Cuban citizens were forced to deposit all their money exceeding $200 in special accounts in the Cuban National Bank.

Tuesday night, Castro said individual citizens would be able to draw only up to $1,000 in cash from their special accounts and thereafter will be allowed to withdraw cash at the rate of $100 a month. They will be permitted total deposits of $10,000. Any money over $5,000 will automatically go into savings accounts, Castro said.

Businesses, Castro said, will be allowed an initial total withdrawal of $5,000 — any sum above that total to be deposited under the new law in savings accounts.

Thetis Lake Blaze Quickly Doused

The Langford-Sooke forest area was quiet yesterday, with only two small fires reported by the Langford Ranger station.

Worst of the two was a blaze that burned through scrub timber in the Thetis Lake Park area. The blaze covered one-half acre and was doused by a forest surgeon suppression crew and a Victoria fire department crew.

Another spot fire was reported along Goldstream Road, but officials said the blaze was a minor one.

Meanwhile, partial closure (early shift) regulations for industries working in the southern half of the Vancouver forest district remains in effect.

The hazard remains high throughout the district, an official said.

Man Claims He's Found Venus de Milo's Arm

ATHENS (AP)—An Illinois restaurant owner said Tuesday he believes he has found an arm from the world's most famous armless statue, Venus de Milo.

"It is highly probable that the marble object is one of the arms of Venus de Milo," Mathem Kyritsis said from the Island of Milos.

The piece of marble was hauling up Monday from Milos harbor. Under it are the remains of an ancient city.

Mock Attack Must Mesh With Fishers

SEATTLE (AP)—American armed forces will find more than the usual obstacles when they stage a mock assault on San Juan Island next month.

More than 400 fishing boats will be operating day and night in the area of the practice attack, Exercise Sea Wall.

When state fisheries department officials saw a news story telling of the operation Sept. 15 by some 12,000 troops, they thought the military planners should know about the fishermen. The peak of the pink salmon run for commercial fishermen in the area falls between Sept. 1 and 19.

A closed meeting of military and state officials was held after which Edward Mains, assistant department director, said the armed forces will do their best to mesh their operations with the fishermen.

Landing forces can expect to find 210 American purse seiners and 265 gill net boats in the assault zone. Each boat can stretch out about 1,200 feet of net to a depth of 60 fathoms.

The total salmon catch in the area is estimated at 1,500,000 fish, worth $375,000 to the fishermen and some $1,125,000 to packers and canners.

Oak Bay Project

Province Approval Awaited for Road

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said last night that a $297,830 plan to widen Cadboro Bay Road was contingent on the provincial highway's department approving the road as a secondary highway.

The plan calls for bringing 1½ miles of the road up to secondary highway standards by widening it to 40 feet and installing curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

GOT MAJORITY

The project, launched as a municipally-initiated local improvement, received the required majority when it went to property owners involved.

Reeve Murdoch said under section 388 (2) of the Municipal Act, only a majority of 50 per cent of the property owners holding 50 per cent of the total assessed value of the land parcels abutting the road could have killed the project.

OPPOSED BY 53

Of 115 owners and a total assessment of $270,020, only 52 owners, representing a total land value of $82,780, were opposed to the plan.

The reeve said that provincial approval of the road as a secondary highway meant that the cost to property owners would be from 35 cents 45 cents per front foot.

Without provincial approval (and cost sharing) the cost would be 80 cents per front foot.

"We have made it plain that if it is not approved as a secondary highway, the work will not start," said the reeve.

He said in that eventuality, the project would go back to the property owners for their approval at the revised cost.

'VERY GOOD CASE'

"But I think we have a very good case, since Cadboro Bay Road is the main entry to the Gordon Head-Ten Mile Point section of Saanich," said the reeve.

He said about 9,000 cars a day use the road and one-third of these are Saanich-bound.

"We envisage an even heavier traffic load," he added.

'A FINE FIX'

The reeve said he was asked at a recent public hearing on the project why Oak Bay should build a road that would be primarily of service to Saanich.

"I replied that we would be in a fine fix if Saanich didn't provide us with a proper road to the Patricia Bay Highway," he said.

Quite a Day!

Crash Marks Test —She Gets Licence

MONTEBELLO, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Wilma Fern Rhody never will forget the day she got her driver's license.

It was also the day she struck another car in an intersection, sending it careening out of control into the front of the department of motor vehicles office and injuring four people.

Police said Miss Rhody had just pulled away from the curb with a driving tester sitting beside her when she struck a card driven by Mrs. Sharon Plummer, 19. Officers said Mrs. Plummer had gone through a red light.

Mrs. Plummer's car scattered benches and counters in the office and knocked down bartender Rafael Bolanos. He received chest injuries. Three others were injured slightly.

Motor vehicle department officials estimated the damage at $2,000, but Miss Rhody was ruled to be not at fault and she got her license.

Pony League Fund Over Top Contributions Came in Rush

The Pony League Fund, started by The Daily Colonist on Sunday in an effort to raise enough money to pay the expenses of the Carnarvon All-Stars to the regional Pony League playdowns at Walla Walla, Wash., was closed last night when it went over the top.

Victoria did itself proud in rallying to the support of the city team, which ran out of finances after travelling to Chemainus to win the Vancouver Island championship, to New Westminster to win the provincial title and to Olympia, Wash., to win sectional honors.

When the books were closed last night, the amount collected totalled a shining $548.57, which will cover all expenses of the trip to Walla Walla. Any contributions sent in late and received today also will be turned over to the league.

While this is healthily in excess of the $413 estimated by club officials, more than that was almost certainly needed. The $413 was an absolute minimum for transportation, lodging and meals and did not take into account the myriad incidental expenses which are bound to crop up.

HELP OTHERS

If there is an excess over expenditures, the balance will go to help any other Victoria juvenile baseball club moving along the playoff trail. Otherwise, said Bob Burrows, past-president of the Carnarvon Pony League, any balance will be used for Pony League activities next season.

"And we'll need it," he added. "These playdowns have wrecked our finances."

Contributions came into the Colonist sports office steadily yesterday, and it was evident by mid-afternoon that the fund would go over the top.

FROM EVERYBODY

Almost everybody, it seemed, wanted to contribute what they could. Bob Lang, 13-year-old Canarvon Pony League player who hopes he will be playing in a regional playdown next year, walked into the office to contribute $5 and a late caller last night, with a $2 contribution, was Roger Halfhide, who looked to be about Little League age.

L/S Larry Quinlan went to work at HMCS Naden and the CPO Mess, PO Mess and Fleet Club combined to swell the fund by $50. Ernest Locke took up a collection at the Naval Armament Depot and turned in $10, another two dollars came from an anonymous reader with the initials C. M.

UMPIRES TOO

The Oak Bay Municipal Employees Association sent in a cheque for $20. Oak Bay Firemen sent $10 and Cecil Wyatt, Victoria City manager, sent in his personal cheque for $10. Bill Mooney promised a cheque for $15 from the American Little League and the Greater Victoria Umpires Association sent $15.

To cap it all, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, proud of the fact that seven team members graduated from Jaycee-sponsored Little Leagues, sent the fund over $580 with a $75 contribution.

Burrows expressed his appreciation on behalf of the league last night.

"I don't just know what to say, except that it is wonderful," he said when told the fund had gone over the top. "It is heartening to the league, and particularly to the youngsters and parents, to know that the Victoria district is behind them as wholeheartedly. I would like to thank everyone and every organization who contributed and The Daily Colonist for taking over the drive and putting it over."

Team manager Evan Williams, who will fly to Walla Walla today to join the club, added his thanks.

"It was terrific," he said, "and it has taken quite a load off our minds. We just couldn't deny the kids the chance to carry on and we had to take the chance that the money could be raised. As it turned out, it really wasn't much of a chance. Please add my thanks, too."

Play starts tonight in the regional championships with Honolulu, the Hawaiian champions, meeting Blackfoot, Idaho, the best in the Rocky Mountain States at 8 in the first game of the double-loss elimination series.

The Carnarvon team meets San Jose at 8.30. And while no line on the other three competing clubs is available, past performances make it almost certain that the Northern California champions are the club the Victorians will have to beat if they are to carry on to the world Pony League final.

Pony Leaguers All Ready Now

Fighting Fists and Bean Balls Fly Among Pennant Race Also-Rans

Philadelphia baseball fans haven't been privileged as far as excitement goes in this dismal, for them, season but the few that showed up last night got a special bonus as the Phillies and Pittsburgh Pirates engaged in one of the wildest diamond melees in years.

Unscheduled action started when Pittsburgh catcher Hal Smith tagged out Tony Gonzales at home plate. Before it was over, it seemed that every person in uniform was swinging at one time or another, seven fights were counted in progress at the same time and police had to work hard to get things quietened down.

The game was finished under protest by the Phillies because Smith, one of the original combatants, wasn't thrown out of the game.

The hassle was all there was for Philadelphia fans, the Pirates winning both games, 10-3 and 3-2, to balance their record at 51-51.

The important baseball action in the National League took place at Los Angeles, where the Dodgers lengthened their short lead by bouncing Milwaukee Braves, 7-3, and at St. Louis, where the surging Cardinals edged by Cincinnati's slipping Reds, 6-5.

BEAN BALLS FLY

There was some out-of-the ordinary action, too, at San Francisco, where the Giants knocked off the Chicago Cubs, 8-1, in a battle of bean balls.

Chicago's Don Cardwell sent San Francisco pitcher Jack Sanford sprawling in the second inning, then plunked Orlando Cepeda on the back in the third inning. Sanford had better aim. He got Cardwell on the neck in the sixth inning hard enough to send the righthander into the clubhouse for repairs.

PULL AWAY

New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers continued to pull away from the rest of the field in the American League.

A double by Tony Kubek and a single by Roger Maris gave the Yanks a 10-inning, 5-4 verdict over Los Angeles Angels. Yogi Berra had tied the score at 4-4 in the sixth inning with his 18th home run.

It was the sixth straight win for the Yankees, two of them in extra innings and three others by one run. Luis Arroyo, their standout relief pitcher, got his 10th win in 13 decisions with three innings of scoreless pitching.

The Tigers got four-hit pitching from Jim Bunning to beat the Chicago White Sox, 3-0, and stay three games in arrears.

Optimists Lose Sectional Opener

LIBBY, Mont. (Special) — Victoria's Evening Optimists literally gave away their game Tuesday night in losing to Libby in the Babe Ruth League sectional playdowns, 9-2.

Norm Billsborough and Danny Harlow, who shared the pitching for the British Columbia champions, managed to hold Libby to four hits but each gave up half a dozen bases on balls and these combined with a number of passed balls and one error to give the winners most of their runs.

A home run in the last half of the third inning gave Libby the lead but Tony Cosier's two-run single in the fourth gave Victoria a short-lived lead.

Libby came back with four runs in their half of the fourth, got three more in the fifth inning and one in the sixth as Jack Mitchell settled down to hold the losers in check.

In other games Tuesday, Oregon defeated Montana, 12-13; Washington blanked Alaska, 11-0, and Wyoming outscored Idaho, 9-6.

Victoria plays Idaho in its second game on Wednesday afternoon.

For Heavyweight Title

Cleroux Decisions Chuvalo

MONTREAL (CP) — Hometowner Bob Cleroux, pitting his drive and roundhouse swings against the more polished attack of defending champ George Chuvalo, stripped the Toronto battler of the Canadian heavyweight title Tuesday night with a 12-round decision.

It was a split decision—two judges voting for the Montrealer and the third for Chuvalo—after a gruelling outdoor bout fought in 72-degree temperature.

Cleroux, at 204, gave 3½ pounds to Chuvalo.

There were no knockdowns but twice Cleroux wrapped his arms around Chuvalo and hurled him to the canvas.

The crowd was estimated at 14,000.

Referee Nick Nichile repeatedly warned both boxers against illegal tactics. But he took no points away.

It was the third meeting between the pair of 23-year-olds and the third time the title changed hands.

All the bouts were held here and went the 12-round distance.

The French-speaking Cleroux was the aggressor throughout, plodding ahead with gloves high to protect his head.

The left hand was Chuvalo's most effective weapon. He snapped it to Cleroux' body but couldn't get a clear shot to the head.

The match was scored under the five-point must system.

Judge Harry Shulman had Cleroux ahead 58-50 and judge Rene Ouimet by 54-52. Judge John Gow favored Chuvalo 56-54.

The Canadian Press card had Cleroux in front 57-56.

'B' Final Tomorrow

Second game will be played in Nanaimo Thursday and the third back here next Tuesday. Winner plays the lower Mainland winner for the coast crown and winner of that series plays the interior champion for the B.C. title.

Victoria had taken a 6-2 lead by halftime in the rough game. Bob Jones led scorers with three while Whitey Wakelyn, Al Hayton and Dave Nelson each had two.

Brian Gray, Bob Anderson, and Dave Gale were other Victoria marksmen.

Loyd Sherry, Bill Good and Mike Good each scored twice for Nanaimo.

Try Rowing for Tyee

By ALEC MERRIMAN

Tyee fishing at Campbell River's famed tyee pool officially started last Sunday with a 52-pounder weighed in at the Tyee Club headquarters by Mrs. Les McDonald of Campbell River, followed closely by a 27-pounder weighed in by Dr. Julian Z. Benjamin of Cincinnati. Both were using Gibbs-Stewart spoons.

They were the first tyee of the year from the Tyee Pool, although there have been a couple of tyee from the Campbell River area, landed off the regular tyee fishing grounds. This year has seen one of the latest starts of the tyee season in many years.

TWO POOLS

Tyee fishing in this area is mainly concentrated at the mouth of the Campbell River where there are two favorite pools.

A big sandbar has formed at the mouth of the Campbell River and the main channel flows on the south side, along the Spit, where the Tyee Club of British Columbia makes its headquarters. A secondary channel flows on the north in front of Painter's Lodge, leaving the sandbar in the middle extending out some 1,000 feet from shore.

TO FIR TREE

The sandbar shallows run out 1,800 feet from the spit and down just about to the fir tree at the end of the tenting area of the Tyee Spit Camp, which is used as a marker.

Fishing the Tyee Pool, start at the northeast outside extremity of the sandbar, along the bar to the fir tree marker and then cut in until from 100 to 200 feet from shore and fish down towards the old Argonaut wharf, which is considered the southern extremity of the Tyee Pool.

Although the waters around the wharf are often called the Petach Pool, it is really one big tyee pool, stretching for more than one-quarter mile.

The Argonaut end of the pool is deeper than the north end and may be fished with a longer line or more weight.

This is where the main run of fish of Campbell River tyee fishing will be concentrated in the next four or five weeks, but there are many other favorite spots which are popular at this time of year.

The big tyee seem to first come through Seymour Narrows and the first spot they congregate is at the Copper Bluffs on Quadra Island, directly opposite Duncan Bay. Fish this spot on the flood tide with six to eight ounces of weight and tight against the cliffs because there is a sheer dropoff—from 12 to 20 fathoms within 25 to 30 feet of the cliffs.

In this area it is usual to use 60 feet of line with 20 feet from the lure to the weight and 40 feet from the weight to the tip of the rod.

From the Copper Bluffs some of the tyee seem to head directly to the Tyee Pool and some to Frenchman's Pool, which is at the northern end of the sandbar at the river mouth, directly opposite Painter's Lodge and the Dolphin's Resort. This pool is best fishing on flood tides, nearing the end of the flood, and fish it tight against the drop off of the sandbar.

BEST TIME

The slack tides don't prove too profitable for Campbell River tyee fishermen. The time the guides prefer to fish is just when the rips are forming, the last couple of hours of flood tide, the changes and the last couple of hours of ebbing tide in the Tyee Pool.

At this tim of the year some of the biggest tyee are often taken along the kelp beds which skirt the shoreline south of Campbell River, to Oyster Bay, but these are likely migratory fish making their way to some other spawning spot. Occasionally a really big tyee is taken off Cape Mudge.

SETS PATTERN

"The first tyee of the year sets the pattern as to the favorite lure," says Ted Smitheringale, manager of Painter's Lodge. "The No. 1 lure in this area is the Gibbs-Stewart 7 or 8 spoon," he observed. And the next day the first tyee was taken on a Gibbs-Stewart 8.

He says fishermen go for a variety of finishes. "It seems to be the action that counts most."

BIG PLUGS

Next popular lures are the Ghandi spoon, which originated in Campbell River and the big plugs like the Lucky Louie Chinook. For Tyee Club fishing they must have single hook setups.

Troll slowly, and in the Tyee and Frenchman's Pool two to three ounces of weight is usual with a 30-30 line hook up — 30 feet from lure to weight and 30 feet from weight to tip of rod.

ROWING WORKS

Smitheringale maintains more fish are taken by rowing and he made his point when the first two fish were caught in boats rowed by guides, although a number were fishing with motors.

"Once a fish reaches the pool he is a non-feeder, almost a spawner. He is not interested in anything simulating feed," says Smitheringale.

"Wherever there are spawning salmon there are sea-run cutthroat trout darting at the salmon bellies trying to push out eggs," he explains, and adds the flan strike at the spoons in anger thinking they are bothersome trout.

LIKE TROUT

In rowing, the action of the oars causes the spoon to jerk and then flip-flop, simulating the actions of trout, he says.

It is most important when fishing tyee to keep your eyes on the tip of the rod. Often they will just mouth a spoon in curiosity, so when the rod action stops, you should strike. It may be weed, but it could be a fish mouthing the lure, he advises.

"You don't have to worry about striking an anger hit. That really sets the reel screaming," he added.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

A clean sweep of the Canadian amateur golf titles is possible for British Columbia this year. The province has made an excellent start by winning the Willingdon Cup for the 10th time, while the Canadian Ladies' Close championship has gone to Janet McWha, the B.C. champion who also led the B.C. ladies' team to victory in the inter-provincial event.

This week the B.C. golfing stars will continue their activities with the men playing in the Canadian Amateur at Edmonton and the ladies playing their Canadian Open championship at Vancouver. In each case B.C. golfers are given strong chances of victory.

Victoria has only a small entry in this week's big events. At Edmonton Bill Wakeham will add strength to the B.C. Willingdon Cup team in its individual challenge for the title, while Mrs. Shirley Naysmith is taking part in the ladies' event at Vancouver. Mrs. Naysmith just missed a place on the victorious B.C. ladies' team.

Another title on which B.C. has its sights is the Canadian junior championship, last won for this province in 1959 by Alan Kennedy of Vancouver, and two years earlier by Bill Wakeham.

The junior event will be played this year at Saskatoon next week, starting on Aug. 15 with the inter-provincial team test.

In these events the big B.C. hope is Terry Campbell, provincial junior champion, and a highly accomplished player.

The Victoria representative on the junior team is Earl Francis, the Gorge Vale champion. Earl last week underwent an appendix operation but he has been given the assurance that he will be able to play in the event.

* * *

The feature of the B.C. Willingdon Cup victory on Saturday was the fine performance of Bert Tieshurst. He carded a three under par 139 over the 36 holes test, and finished four strokes ahead of anybody else.

Bert now has the distinction of being the low man in the field in the only two Willingdon Cup competitions for which he has been selected.

Two years ago at Marine Drive, when the B.C. team won by 10 strokes Ticehurst was 141, two strokes better than anyone else. He was left out of last year's team, but has now shown that his omission may have been an error.

Tieshurst is an extremely fine card and pencil player, but he has never shown up so well in match-play events, and because of that he does not get the limelight thrown upon him as it has been done on other less consistent but more successful match play experts.

Tyee Hit At Port

PORT ALBERNI—Jack Bell, Franklin River, has the distinction of being the first Alberni Valley Tyee Club member to weigh in a fish in the 1961 season.

Fishing off China Creek with herring strip, Bell caught a 33-pounder, largest tyee caught by a member during the first week of the season. He also boasted a 27-pound spring.

Dick Gallic weighed in a 22-pound 12-ounce fish.

These were the only fish weighed in at the Port Boat House in the first week of the season, but non-member Benny Steele caught a 48-pound 2-ounce tyee early in the week at Nahmint, then joined the tyee club. He started off the second week of the season by bringing in a 42-pounder.

Gordon Herbertson also won a place on the second week's list with a 37½-pound tyee.

Wakeham Leads All Amateur Qualifiers

EDMONTON (CP)—Bill Wakeham, a young Victoria veteran who was bypassed when the British Columbia Willingdon Cup team was picked, won medal honors at the Canadian amateur golf championship here Tuesday by shooting a two-under-par 69.

Wakeham led after Monday's first round in the 36-hole qualifying test with a spar[illegible] of [illegible] this six-under par 136 for the 36 holes was good enough to beat out Vancouver veteran Johnny Johnston by two strokes.

Johnston, who opened with a 71, shot 67 in the second round for 138.

In third place was Nick Weslak well-known veteran from Toronto who followed his opening 69 with a one-under par 70. Mike Pyke of Calgary, a one-time Alberta champion, shot a second straight 70 to be fourth. Jeff McGrath of Ottawa was the only other player to finish the qualifying test under par. He had a 141.

BEST ROUND

Best round yesterday was turned in by Doug Silverberg of Calgary, who shot a 66 — the best round of the qualifying test—mainly because of a hot putter which produced six birdies. He just missed three birdie putts and might have ended with a 63 with a bit more luck.

That gave Silverberg a 142 total, tying him for sixth place with Gary Cowan of Kitchener and Bob Wylie of Calgary.

COOL WAKEHAM

The cool Wakeham was only in trouble twice. He punched a No. 7 iron high on the 12th hole and the brisk wind carried it into a trap. He came out long and two-putted for a bogey five. His tee shot on the dog-leg 16th found the rough and he again came up with a bogey five.

But for that Wakeham was almost perfect. He hit eight greens on the front nine, got two birdies and had six other birdie putts either rim the cup or bounce off.

"I think I played better golf today than I did Monday," he said after his round.

A score of 155 was needed to assure qualification with two of eight shooting 156 getting in after a playoff.

MISSED OUT

Among those who missed out were Victorians Roger Rees and Bill Kirstine, who carded 157 and 161, respectively.

Two rounds of match play will be played Wednesday and Thursday in a gruelling test of stamina with the semifinals on Friday and the final on Saturday all being played over 36 holes.

In addition to Wakeham and Johnston, other B.C. qualifiers, all from Vancouver, were Bob Kidd (143), Bert Ticehurst (145), Joe Jerrold (148), Greig Candlish (153) and R. W. Ford (155).

Colleen Smith Wins Ladies' Open Medal

By BOB TRIMBEE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Colleen Smith, long-driving member of British Columbia's championship interprovincial golf team, Tuesday captured medalist honors in the 18-hole qualifying round of the Canadian women's Open golf championship, being played at the Point Grey Golf and Country Club.

Playing on her home course, Miss Smith came in with a 37 for a two-over-par round of 77 although she had double-bogey sevens on the first and last holes. She got two of the four strokes back with an eagle three on the 420-yard sixth.

Runner-up was Judy Darling, petite airline hostess from Montreal, who shot a par of 78 for her 78.

Deadlocked in third place were Mrs. Margaret Todd, long-hitting Victoria veteran; Janet MacWha of Vancouver, winner last week of the Canadian Close championship, and Marjorie Burns, 35-year-old veteran star from Greensboro, North Carolina.

Gail Harvey of Scarborough, Ont., was next with an 80.

At 81 were Gayle Hitchens 17-year-old junior Canadian champion from Vancouver, and Elizabeth Price of Farnham, Surrey, the 1959 British champion.

MISSES CHANCE

Miss Darling, one of the pre-tournament favorites, missed her chance by flubbing two puts of less than two feet on the back nine but almost won anyway as Miss Smith ran into trouble on the 18th green.

Obviously nervous, Miss Smith put her fourth shot in a trap beside the sloping green and she took two strokes to get clear. But her second was only five feet away, and she sank the putt for her seven.

PLAYOFF NEEDED

A score of 85 assured qualification and five golfers who had 86 were forced to play off for the last three berths in the championship round.

Barbara Renwick, 18-year-old Vancouver junior, Pat Austin of Edmonton and Mrs. H. P. Connor of Halifax, captain of the Nova Scotia team, won out. Eliminated were Joyce Fairweather of Vancouver and Mrs. H. L. Mussells of Montreal.

GOOD ONES OUT

Among those missing out were Betty Stanhope Cole of Edmonton, 1957 open champion, who shot an 87. Also missing out were Mrs. Ted Homeniuk of Winnipeg, 1961 Manitoba champion; Mrs. Grestne Pyke of Montreal, 1950 Close champion; Jean Goulet, Regina star who was fifth in the Open last year, and Marlene Wach of Winnipeg, captain of the Manitoba interprovincial team.

Victoria had two qualifiers, Mrs. Shirley Naysmith, member of the 1960 provincial team, making it with 42-43 for an 85.

Victorians who didn't make it included Mrs. Lillian Thirlwell (90), Mrs. Peggy Harris (93) and Mrs. S. Keate (98).

Hotelmen One Up In Baseball Semi

Douglas Hotel defeated Naval Vets, 2-0, last night in a tightly-played Senior Amateur Baseball League game at Royal Athletic Park to take the first game of their best-of-three semi-final series. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning because of darkness.

Second game of the series will be played tonight and if a third is needed, it will be played Thursday. Winner plays Transport Workers in the final.

Hotelmen scored their first run when pitcher George Hemming issued his fifth walk of the third inning. Earlier another runner tried to score on a passed ball but was thrown out at the plate.

The winners added insurance in the sixth inning when Earl Woods singled, stole second and was driven home by Stu Mitchell's single. These were the only safeties off three Naval Vets pitchers.

Winning pitcher Dee Moseley allowed four hits, struck out 10 and walked four.

Garden Notes

Winter Brighteners

By H. V. CHESNUT, PHD

The winter-flowering heathers really had themselves a ball last winter. Thanks to the mild weather, they bloomed their heads off all through the dark days and I am sure many Victoria gardeners made a mental resolve to grow lots more of these trouble-free plants in the future.

Folks seem to have the idea that cuttings from members of the heath family are difficult to root successfully. Actually, with the modern techniques available today, it is fairly easy to propagate them, providing one or two essential rules are followed.

I took a batch of 40 slips from my winter-flowering heaths about this time last year. 31 of them rooted and grew away nicely and several of these will be big enough to bloom this coming winter.

* * *

Timing is fairly important, the best time to take cuttings is in late August and early September—according to my diary. I cut my batch of slips last year Aug. 20. Half-ripened young shoots are best and there are lots of these available at this time of the year.

Thin, weak twigs are no good, as they never make sturdy, thrifty plants even if they can be persuaded to put out roots. Neither should thick, sappy shoots be used, for these will almost invariably rot before roots can form. The best pieces are little side branches growing out from vigorous young main shoots.

These should be an inch to 1½ inches long and cut off but pulled away from the parent shoot, taking with it a small "heel" of bark from the parent branch. This heel should be trimmed up with a pair of sharp scissors so there are no frayed or ragged edges to delay rooting.

* * *

Next, a few of the lower leaves are removed from the portion of the stem which will be buried when planted. The business end of the cutting is then moistened slightly—I stick mine in my mouth—and dipped into a hormone rooting powder such as Rootone or Seradix. Any excess powder is shaken off and the slip is ready for insertion.

I root my erica cuttings in bulb pots but, because the heaths don't require much depth of soil, I fill the bottom half of the pot with gravel first, covering it with a layer of green moss to prevent the soil from sifting through. The pot is filled then with a half-and-half mixture of peat moss and coarse sand. A final thin layer of pure sand is sifted over the surface, then the pot is watered and allowed to drain before the slips are inserted.

* * *

I find I can get about 10 of these tiny cuttings in a six-inch bulb pot without overcrowding, and when all are in place, a little more water is given to firm the peat-sand mixture around the stems. The cuttings go in about half their length.

With planting completed, the pot is sealed up tightly in a polythene plastic bag and placed in a greenhouse, coldframe or sunny kitchen window. No further watering is required as the polythene film allows no moisture to escape.

New growth should be seen on the slips in about 10 weeks, indicating rooting has been accomplished, and at this point the plastic bag can be discarded and the little plants grown in the open. Regular watering will be required, with an occasional pinch of soluble fertiliser in the water. If any slips tend to grow leaky, pinch out the tips to induce bushiness and make sure plenty of sunshine is available. The rooted plants may be set out in their flowering positions by next May.

Monicker Mouthful

Chedafimigij

By HAROLD HEFFERNAN

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Personality parade:

Proofreaders, man the guns! Twenty-one-year-old Chedafimigij Xavier Barpheauloswyskira (minus nickname), whose legal monicker encompasses the entire English alphabet except for the letters Q and T, is being brought to Hollywood for a screen test by TV actor Lee Patterson.

Patterson, a star of Warner Bros. "Surfside 6" series, met the young Hungarian recently while in Miami Beach on location and discovered the handsome six-footer had lived until last month in Patterson's Canadian home town in Ontario. He was smuggled out of Hungary during the revolution a few years ago.

* * *

Young Mr. B (a courtesy to the typographer) is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zinkilkira Awoanerful Barpheauloswyskira, a famed husband-wife vaudeville team that toured Europe in the early 1900's under the billing of "Zin and Fritzi."

When Patterson wired the Warner front office from Miami of his intentions he got this reply: "Don't bring him to the studio until you get him a new name—or at least a nickname."

Could Be New Star

Gets Chance

Arriving here last week, Patterson at once took his protege to famed name-changing talent agent Henry Wilson, responsible for tagging Rock Hudson, Tab Hunter, Troy Donahue and Fabian, among others. Even Wilson turned pale at this assignment, but he's still working on it.

Fourth time around for the world's most grossing movie uncovers some interesting items.

With August marking the 25th anniversary of publication of Margaret Mitchell's novel, "Gone with the Wind," Macmillan & Co., publishers, are issuing a special de luxe edition and you can pick one up for a ten-spot.

More than 9,500,000 copies of the novel have been sold, including foreign-language editions in 31 countries, plus special editions for the blind. In addition to the de-luxer, two new soft-cover versions are on the stands, published as a tie-in with current re-release of the movie, which already this year has taken in $8,000,000 more at box offices.

Lively Session Due

Yacht Awaits Stars

Clan Invades Riviera

NICE, France (UPI)—Frank Sinatra's Hollywood clan began arriving yesterday for what promised to be one of the biggest star-studded weekends the French Riviera has seen in many a day.

Sinatra and Dean Martin are due later from Germany, where they stopped to see Martin's son, a U.S. soldier stationed at Wertheim.

* * *

Sammy Davis Jr. is at Monte Carlo, where he will be the star performer at Princess Grace's Red Cross Gala on Friday.

The 170-foot steam yacht Hinienta, chartered from Britain's Sir John North, lay at anchor in Nice harbor waiting to take members of the clan aboard.

"We don't know yet where we will cruise," American oilman J. Robert Neal said, "we are waiting for 'the leader.'"

* * *

Neal has chartered the yacht and invited "whoever wants to go" from the clan on the cruise. He said Peter Lawford, President Kennedy's brother-in-law, will be aboard.

Porfirio Rubirosa and his wife, Odile, are in Cap D'Antibes, staying at a luxury hotel near the summer villa of the president's father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

* * *

Janet Leigh, wife of Hollywood actor Tony Curtis, and Mrs. Jean Martin, Martin's wife, arrived by air yesterday.

"I'm not going on the yacht," Miss Leigh said. "And of course Tony couldn't leave his current film long enough to come over. He doesn't fly."

Highlight of the clan's separate and collective holidays on the Riviera promised to be the Princess Grace's Monaco party Friday.

* * *

"Of course we will be going," Neal said, confirming Sinatra's suggestion last weekend that at least some of them would go to Monte Carlo to see Davis perform.

Some of the Riviera personalities were absent. Aristotle Onassis and Maria Callas were cruising among the Greek islands.

Opera Season Cancelled

Aid for Arts Sought

Kennedy Urged to End Met Dispute

NEW YORK (UPI) — City officials yesterday sought a solution for a labor dispute that forced the Metropolitan Opera to cancel its season, and in Washington a New York senator called for a U.S. arts foundation to finance culture.

The Met announced cancellation of its 1961-62 season because it was unable to meet demands by its orchestra union for $78-a-week pay raises. It said the demand would have cost $750,000.

* * *

The union, Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians, scheduled a news conference today to state its position.

President Kennedy, Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg and New York Mayor Robert Wagner all were urged to intervene in the wage dispute.

* * *

In Washington, Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R—N.Y.) said "the Metropolitan Opera situation demonstrates forcibly why we need a national arts program similar to the Arts Council in England."

Javits, who is sponsoring legislation to set up a foundation to handle grants and loans to various arts, said "historical institutions like the Metropolitan need some form of help from the government to meet their deficiencies."

Mayor Wagner asked union officials to meet with him today to seek some common ground for a settlement.

Opera stars Risa Stevens, Leontyne Price, Joan Sutherland, Robert Merill and Richard Tuckerall said they hoped some way could be found to keep the Met in business this year.

Miss Stevens directed her appeal to Kennedy, urging the president to use his influence to reopen negotiations.

* * *

Miss Price, Negro soprano, who was to have starred in the Met's season-opening production of Puccini's "Girl of the Golden West," asked Goldberg to mediate the dispute. In her appeal from Salzburg, Austria, she described the cancellation as a "great tragedy for our country and our prestige abroad."

Cruelty Charge

Master Woos As Lion Waits

NEW YORK (UPI) — A nearly full-grown male lion was found chained in the back seat of an automobile near Pennsylvania Station yesterday. He was just waiting while his master wooed an exotic dancer in a nearby restaurant.

But nobody knew for two hours why "King Kado the lion" was sitting in the parked car. During that time, Kado created a sensation among passersby and attracted a swarm of puzzled police officers and humane officials.

* * *

After the white Cadillac auto in which Kado sat was covered with a protective net, owner Richard Flynn, 37, of St. Louis arrived on the scene. A SPCA agent John Joule gave the lion tamer a summons for cruelty for leaving Kado in the car in the sun without water.

"What do you mean cruelty?" shouted Flynn. "The normal temperature where lions live in the veldt is 120 degrees. It's only 91 here. He's very comfortable."

* * *

Flynn explained that he had decided to stop in New York for lunch with Laurette Bass, 25. He said he and Miss Bass had become engaged while working together in a lion act but split up after a spat.

"I love that lion," said Miss Bass, "but as to marrying Flynn . . ."

She kissed and petted King Kado just to show how docile he was. King Kado kissed Miss Bass in return.

King Fisherman

Salmon Hitting Peak in South

South Island salmon fishing is coming to its peak. Latest entries in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest show that anglers are scoring in waters from Sooke to Sidney, in Saanich Inlet and Cowichan Bay.

Anglers off Otter Point are obviously hooking good numbers of humpback salmon, which for contest purposes are classed as spring salmon. This is the cycle year for humpies and fishing for this often underrated salmon should get even better.

A few salmon are being taken off the Greater Victoria waterfront and Sidney, Saanich Inlet is a steady producer and Cowichan Bay should be near the peak of its annual spring salmon run.

Douglas Debated Again

Saanich to Air Six-Lane Plan

The $125,000 plan to beautify the Douglas Street entrance to Victoria is still up in the air.

A special meeting of the Capital Improvement District Commission yesterday decided to send the plan back to the Saanich council and ask that the council agree to ban parking along its section of Douglas from June 1, 1962.

The CIDC has offered to do the work at no cost to Victoria or Saanich, provided the councils agree to ban parking.

WITH CONCESSION

City council accepted the plan recently, although Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow pointed out that it is not possible for this year's council to commit next year's council to the parking ban.

But when Saanich considered the offer it was accepted with the concession that parking along Douglas would be banned when it becomes necessary.

ESTIMATED $125,000

Estimated to cost about $125,000, the plan calls for six traffic lanes along Douglas Street from the junction with the Trans-Canada Highway to the Fountain Circle with full-scale beautification of existing boulevard plots.

The CIDC has had difficulty in having its offer accepted by Victoria and Saanich because of merchant opposition to parking bans.

Couple Continues Happy Tradition

Mr. and Mrs. Wilf Sadler no longer operate the concession at Beaver Lake, but they still carry on one tradition they began at the lake eight years ago—their annual picnic for children of the Protestant Orphanage.

About 80 youngsters from the home will attend this year's picnic at the lake Saturday, from 1 to 6 p.m. There will be ice cream, soft drinks and food, plus boat rides and races.

Back in the Kiwanis Club after almost 40 years is Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes. He was made an honorary member of Victoria Kiwanis Club yesterday by Kiwanis district governor Ed Mallek. Mr. Pearkes was a member of Calgary club in 1922. He is the first honorary member appointed in the Victoria club's 40-year history. —(Ryan Bros. photo.)

No Pay Hike in 90 Years!

Canada's lieutenant-governors are unique, Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes told Victoria Kiwanis Club yesterday.

"It is a unique appointment in that there is no exact parallel in the British Commonwealth or the world," he said. "It is quite different to that of a governor in one of the states south of the line; it is quite different to that of a governor in one of the states of Australia."

Mr. Pearkes said a Canadian lieutenant-governor has three main functions—as a representative of the Queen, as an officer appointed by the federal government and as chief executive of the province.

* * *

Mr. Pearkes described the history of Crown representatives in British Columbia from the days of Sir James Douglas—"who at heart was very much of a dictator"—through the union of B.C. and Vancouver Island and Canadian confederation, up to the present time.

* * *

Lieutenant-governors are appointed and paid by the federal government, and haven't had a wage increase for 90 years, he said smiling.

Mr. Pearkes was made the club's first honorary member in its 40-year history. The framed membership certificate was presented by Ed Mallek, district governor for Kiwanis in the Victoria district.

No Trend Yet

Meter Guesses Rapped

City Hall spokesman yesterday rejected a suggestion that parking meter collection figures show the public is opposed to using 10-cent parking meters.

'TAKE THREE MONTHS'

"It will take at least three or four months before any trend will begin to shape up," one spokesman said. "'Guesstimates' based on collections for the first five days of this month are worthless."

UP AND DOWN

Collections for the first five days of August totalled $3,673, compared with $2,958 for the same period last year.

Collections for the last five days of July—immediately preceding the first five days of August — were $3,125 — $548 less.

TOO MANY FACTORS

"There are too many factors which must be taken into account," the spokesman said.

About 1,000 of the city's 1,800 parking meters have been altered to charge at the new rate of 10 cents an hour.

New Rural Storm Looms Over Subdivision Plan

Another storm over subdivision control in Central Saanich loomed last night when council received a Capital Region Planning Board draft bylaw with a comment from the deputy reeve it was "the same old thing hashed up in a different way."

'RIGHTS TAKEN'

Following the council meeting at which the proposed bylaw was tabled without formal discussion, Coun. P. F. Warren, acting reeve in the absence of R. Gordon Lee, said, "We are all in favor of good subdivision planning.

"We want a control bylaw that is strong, something that has teeth in it. But when the planners come to the point of telling people what to do with their land, then that is taking rights away from the people."

OPPOSITION SEEN

Coun. Warren said there is "a lot of opposition" among council members to the proposal contained in the CRPB draft bylaw that wholesale control of land use should be rigidly enforced. He said the same proposal was served up by former CRPB planner Brahm Wiseman several years ago and rejected outright by council.

SPECIAL MEETING

He said a special council meeting would be called on return of Reeve Lee to thrash out objections to the proposed bylaw.

The CRPB draft designates minimum lot sizes in various parts of the municipality and proposes four areas for development as follows:

- The principal centre, Brentwood, and two lesser communities, Saanichton and Keating, should have a minimum lot size of 12,000 square feet (approximately ¼ acre) with a minimum frontage of 75 feet. Future developments within this area would be permitted only where piped water is available.
- Zones which would provide for larger rural homes, particularly in coastal areas, with a minimum recommended lot size of just over half an acre and a minimum of 85 feet frontage. It is proposed that this will encourage high quality residential developments such as that in the Ten Mile Point area of Saanich.
- Largest of the four designated areas for development would restrict lot size to a minimum of three acres and is designed to "promote and protect the specialized agricultural areas of the municipality."
- Three parts of the municipality are covered by the fourth of the proposed zones which would provide for parcels of land with a minimum area of six acres. It includes large farm holdings used for general farming and the main dairy farms in the municipality. Also included are some sections, like the McHugh Valley, where land is liable to flooding.

'MORE URGENT'

In an accompanying explanatory report, the CRPB said the present program for installation of piped water encourages development and "makes more urgent the need for new zoning and subdivision bylaws."

It also points out that retention of lands in the third category, with a minimum acreage of three acres, "will more than anything else safeguard the municipality from the financial difficulties which follow the uneconomic development of scattered small lot subdivisions."

Gunshots in Cathedral 'Saved Birds from Pain'

Gunshots that dispatched two pigeons in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday spared the birds unnecessary pain, Dean Brian Whitlow said yesterday.

The dean said previous news reports had indicated the birds were shot outside the building.

"This was not the case," he added. He said on several other occasions, pigeons had entered the church and had slowly died of starvation, unable to find their way out.

Attempts to trap them were fruitless and sometimes the frightened birds injured themselves against the walls of the building in their attempt to elude their rescuers.

"The choice has to be made between a quick and painless shooting and a slow and painful death by starvation," said the dean.

He said protests by SPCA manager Norman Stephens were evidently prompted by the report that the birds were on the roof outside the church.

Mr. Stephens said he contemplated no further action and it was "unlikely that it will happen again."

Oak Bay Rejects Report For Higher 'Outside' Pay

Oak Bay council has rejected a conciliation board majority report recommending pay increases to the outside staff.

Union spokesmen said Local 311 of the Municipal Employees Association, which has about 40 permanent members, will hold a meeting this week to decide what course of action to take.

The union had accepted the majority report which calls for a four-cent hourly increase for laborers now receiving a basic rate of $1.98 per hour, and a three-cent increase for skilled laborers now receiving a basic rate ranging from $1.98 to $2.16 per hour.

The non-binding report also suggested the pay increase should be effective from July 1, 1961, although the contract would cover a 12-month period from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1961.

OTHER BENEFITS

It also called upon the union to wait until next contract negotiations to seek other benefits including service pay, holidays with pay and cost percentages to be shared by employers and employees under group insurance plans.

The majority report was submitted by C. E. Gerhart, chairman, and G. E. Bone, the union nominee on the three-man conciliation board.

ONE-YEAR PACT

E. E. Pearman, employer's nominee on the board, said in a minority report:

"In the interest of harmony among all employees . . . I strongly recommend that a one-year agreement be entered into, terminating Dec. 31, 1961, and that it be on the same terms and conditions as presently exist."

'GROSSLY UNFAIR'

Reeve George Murdoch said yesterday the majority report was rejected by council this week.

"Council felt the whole thing was grossly unfair to other unions who have agreed to hold the line by renewing their former contracts," said Reeve Murdoch.

'IT'S A TOSS-UP'

He said the employees could take a strike vote but "it's been a toss-up whether council contracts the work out or keeps our own employees on."

Russell Cooney, president of the outside staff union, said council's rejection of the majority report came as no surprise to him.

ACTION EXPECTED

"We quite expected this. I knew it would happen," he said, adding that the old contract expired last December and they have been negotiating ever since.

Possibility of contracting out the work is "up to them (council). It's been talked about several times in the past few years. I'll not say they can't, but it would be pretty hard to do," said the union chief.

Hospitality Drive For Navy Visit Stalled at Start

So far only a handful of Victorians have answered an appeal by the Chamber of Commerce for volunteers to act as hosts for sailors aboard a British warship scheduled to arrive Aug. 18 on a four-day visit to Esquimalt.

A spokesman for RCN Pacific Command said it had been informed that up to noon Tuesday only six offers to take visiting sailors as guests for a day during the weekend of Aug. 19 and 20 had been forthcoming.

Both naval and chamber officials expressed concern at the slow start to the hospitality campaign which is geared to handle as many as 120 men on each of the two days.

FIRST VISIT

HMS Londonderry, one of the Royal Navy's most modern anti-submarine frigates, is making her first visit to B.C. waters. After her four-day visit to Victoria the warship will go to Vancouver to take part in the Pacific National Exhibition.

John Coppinger, secretary-manager of the chamber, said the hospitality program is designed to strengthen bonds of friendship between British Columbians and the visiting Britons, most of whom are getting their first look at Canada.

"What better way to achieve this than by offering our visitors the hospitality of Canadian homes, by taking them on drives and to picnics among the scenic beauties of our Island?" said Mr. Coppinger.

HOSTS REQUIRED

The RCN is arranging activities that will cover the first and fourth days of the visit. Hosts for a day are required for the Saturday and Sunday. Volunteers should phone the chamber office at EV 3-7191 giving their name, address, whether they have a car, and how many sailors they wish to entertain.

Major Tenant Lost

Industrial Estate 'Not Abandoned'

A Vancouver construction firm will continue to push its proposal for development of an industrial estate in Saanich despite the unexpected loss of its first major prospective tenant.

R. G. Bentall, vice-president of Dominion Construction Company, said he had received no previous indication that B.C. Telephone Company was making a new site for its proposed $800,000 administrative and commercial centre.

It was disclosed yesterday that the telephone company has applied to Saanich council for rezoning of five acres on the southwest corner of McKenzie Avenue and Quadra Street as a site for the centre.

"The B.C. Telephone Company was the first prospective client we had," said Mr. Bentall. "I had no idea they had changed their plans, but regardless of this we are certainly going ahead with our plans to develop an industrial estate."

Mr. Bentall said "pressure of business" has forced his firm to temporarily slacken off on its drive to establish the project, but he added that with other prospective tenants already lined up "concrete developments" should be forthcoming before the end of August.

AWAITING PLANS

Reeve George Chatterton last night said council was still awaiting final plans for the industrial estate project.

"Whether the Dominion Construction proposal will be acceptable or not, we don't know," said the reeve. "But this is a question of much importance for Saanich.

CONCERN EXPRESSED

Earlier, some concern had been expressed by individual council members that receipt of no word from Dominion Construction over a period of several weeks indicated abandonment of the project.

Council is awaiting the report of the advisory planning board on the B.C. Telephone Company proposal to locate its administrative offices and plant at the new site near the municipal yard.

Playground Field Day Set Today

Parents and friends of youngsters who took part in city parks supervised playground program this summer are invited to attend a field day starting at 1 p.m. today in Central Park.

Program director Gordon Hartley said last night that every activity carried on in parks playgrounds will be represented in sports events and displays of handiwork by youngsters.

More than 1,000 children are expected to take part in the day's events which mark the close of supervised playground operations in city parks for this summer.

All city playgrounds except Central will be closed for the afternoon so that youngsters can take part in races, novelty events, a 20-hour batting card and a table-tennis tournament for boys and girls.

Brighton Extension Tabled Indefinitely

Oak Bay council has tabled indefinitely its plans to extend Brighton Avenue through Brighton Place and sell some of the property to pay for the paving project.

Reeve George Murdoch said yesterday council decided to "leave it for further study," after considering a brief which was presented to council calling for the municipality to retain the area as a small natural park.

The brief was presented this week by John W. Jackson, 1400 St. Patrick, on behalf of himself and 47 others.

Mr. Murdoch said a delegation accompanying Mr. Jackson that a former road allowance at Brighton Place was cancelled in 1959 so the corporation could construct a 24-foot-wide extension of Brighton Avenue there, paying for the extension from sale of four lots within the 144-foot-wide strip of land.

Residents Blamed — Debris Dumped

Garbage Spoils Gorge

Some nearby residents are dumping garbage in the Gorge, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow charged yesterday.

"People living in the Gorge area are dumping brush, flowers, lawn cuttings and various debris into the water," he said. "It seems a pity for anyone to deter the development and beautification of the area."

* * *

Ald. Edgelow, president of the Gorge Waterway Development Association, appealed to offenders to stop the practice.

The charge was supported by Jack Phillion, an executive member of Victoria Kinsmen Club, which has poured $125,000 into development of Kinsmen-Gorge Park.

"It's the next swimming in Victoria in the Gorge and it seems a shame to have it spoiled by floating garbage."

* * *

Mr. Phillion's home at 10 Phillion Place fronts onto the Gorge waters.

"Rockwell Beach was established by residents around there and someone has dumped dirt and clay over the bank right alongside the beach," he said.

"If there is anything more disgraceful than tipping dead flowers and grass clippings and dry leaves into the Gorge I don't know what it is."

* * *

Mr. Phillion said the swimming pool in Kinsmen-Gorge Park is not affected by floating rubbish as it is separated from the main body of the Gorge.

Heirloom Veil Worn by Bride

In the RCAF Protestant Chapel at Comox Saturday, Miss Margaret Mary Kirk daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Adam Kirk of Courtenay, became the bride of James Stuart Moffatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Stuart Moffat, Nanaimo. Rev. W. J. Lunny, assisted by Rev. C. E. Lansdale, officiated at the early afternoon ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza and Chantilly lace. Her veil was a 104-year-old heirloom of Maltese lace caught to a circlet headdress. She carried a bouquet of multicoloured sweet peas and baby's breath.

Attending the bride were matron of honor, Mrs. G. Whitmore; bridesmatron, Mrs. R. McQuinn, and bridesmaid, Miss P. Kirk, in yellow, blue and lavender, respectively. Their silk organza dresses were complemented with bouquets of sweet peas. Three tiny flower girls in pink, green and yellow, were Jeanne Kirk, Pamela Moffat and Marion Kirk. They wore silk organza frocks and carried baskets of sweet peas to match their headdresses.

The groom had Mr. W. S. Moffat as best man, and Mr. Robert Kirk, Mr. John Moffat and Mr. Jack Murphy as ushers.

Guests were received in the garden of the bride's parents' home.

DRAW THE LINE

Choose a picnic table in the shade. Keep ants away by drawing a chalk line around the outside of the top. They don't like crossing the chalk. Salads can be transported well in a double-boiler, using the bottom for ice. Maybe there will even be ice left in it for soft drinks when you arrive at your destination.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Occasionally when I want shopping I used to pick up a small item (often nothing I wanted or could use) and slip it into my purse or coat pocket.

I'm not a teen-ager, Ann, I'm a mother of grown children. I can afford to buy anything I want but the challenge of getting away with something for nothing was fun.

Last week I was caught and taken into the store manager's office. The item I had picked up was worth 26 cents. I wanted to die. I would gladly have paid 100 times the price if it hadn't happened—and I could easily have done so because I had $35 in my purse.

The manager was very nice. He told me he would not press charges but asked me not to come into his store again. I've been so depressed since this happened I feel like a worthless criminal. Can you help me?—THIEF.

Dear Friend: If this has been going on for years, you need professional help. People who steal things they neither need nor want are ill. Only when you have a better understanding of the problem will you regain your self-respect. And the knowledge of why you behaved as you did will help you to avoid slipping back into the old ways.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll bet plenty of men clipped that column in which you suggested a doctor or a marriage counsellor for the iceberg wife. Well, here's a little something for the girls to clip:

How can a man expect his wife to fall lovingly into his arms when he has spent the previous four hours ignoring her (while he watches TV) or belittling and criticizing her in front of the children? I am married to a man who does both consistently. And in addition to this he takes a bath about once a week—if he feels like it.

So maybe HE ought to see a doctor or a marriage counsellor. I'll bet my bottom dollar that 95 per cent of the iceberg wives could be thawed out with a kind word, some consideration and a little soap and water.—UNAPPRECIATED.

Dear Ann Landers: A certain couple in our crowd is notorious for social climbing. They never accept an invitation until the last second, which to me means only one thing—they are holding off to see if something better turns up.

This couple has a habit of leaving parties early to go to other parties. They think it's smart to say, "We can only stay a minute because we have two other stops to make." I think this is an insult to the hostess. They imply that their presence is so desirable that they must favor the largest number with their fleeting presence.

How can a hostess protect herself against such phonies?—IN THE GROUP.

Dear In: A hostess can just not invite such people, or she can invite them at the last minute after the first-string has had a chance to accept or decline.

I see nothing insulting about going to more than one party in an evening, but the hostesses should be told in advance.

TALKS IN TUMULT CUBAN FISTS FLY

Duncan Water's Dirty And Beer's Expensive

DUNCAN—A Price Place resident has complained to city council that tap water is so foul he has to drink beer.

Jack Hindmarch, who produced a sample glass of water in which floated pieces of wood, told council, "I just dare not drink the water. As a matter of fact, it's costing me four cases of beer a week."

Poisoning 'Victims' Safe After International Hunt

By JACK FRY

A Canadian customs man at Sidney yesterday ended a 5½-hour international search when he spotted a California car carrying three children believed to be suffering from contact with an agricultural poison.

Don Wilson, a Victoria University student working during the summer months for the federal government, spotted the car coming off the Anacortes ferry at 5.45 p.m.

The visitors, James Thompson of Brawley, Calif., his wife Lois and children Anne, 8, Michael, 6 and John, 3, were taken under police escort to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where the children were released after a checkup.

Mr. Thompson, a junior high school principal in Brawley, said doctors explained to him the children would have become violently ill within six hours if they had been poisoned.

It was at first believed that they were ill, when RCMP sounded a general alert in British Columbia at 12.20 p.m. The report was originated from the Washington State Patrol, which said at least one of the children had been playing in a heavy concentration of aldrin, an agricultural poison which can be absorbed through the skin and could be fatal.

All Approaches Checked

The family spent three days at the Canby, Ore., farm of Mr. Thompson's father, also named James Thompson, and it was reported after their departure that young John and possibly the other children had been playing with a bucket of poison on the farm.

The Thompsons were on their way here for a week's holiday on Vancouver Island. Every highway and ferry approach to the island as well as every border crossing point was checked by police and other officials.

Search for their light yellow station wagon pulling a house trailer spread through the Lower Mainland and into the Interior.

The B.C. government ferry Mv Tsawwassen was even delayed for 15 minutes at the mainland terminal when an RCMP car roared down to the dock with red light blinking and siren wailing. A policeman and B.C. toll authority officials searched the ferry and car lineup without success.

The Thompsons left the Oregon farm Sunday night, staying Monday night with friends in Poulsbo, Wash., where the children all went for a swim.

They were sitting in their station wagon at Anacortes yesterday waiting for the ferry to Sidney when they heard over their transistor radio an appeal, broadcast for the public to be on the lookout for a car from California. But unsuspecting they let it pass because the name was given as Johnston and the licence plate numbers were different, said Mr. Thompson.

'Completely Puzzled'

Don Wilson, who spotted the car as it rolled off the ferry at Sidney, also said the licence plate and trailer color descriptions were inaccurate, "but the description matched vaguely and I reported it to a senior official."

Customs men asked Mr. Thompson to telephone RCMP, who advised him to drive straight to Victoria, where a doctor would be waiting. Police provided escorts along the way.

As he stepped from his station wagon at the hospital, Mr. Thompson told questioners: "We're completely puzzled. Apparently the youngsters came in contact with some kind of poison."

Mrs. Thompson said, "As far as I can tell, I'm sure they didn't go out to the barn (where the poison was kept)."

Her son Michael said, "John picked up a bucket and it looked like cement."

The school principal later said doctors told him "they were very happy to say our youngsters are all right, and we can go on and enjoy our holiday."

He said, "We feel the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and other police forces should be commended for their efficiency."

It was the family's second visit to Vancouver Island. They said it would not be their last. As they climbed back into their yellow station wagon, one of a half dozen news photographers standing by quipped, "You won't get the same reception next time."

Wide-eyed three-year-old John Thompson waits fearfully for doctor's assurance he is not poisoned, while his father, James Thompson of Brawley, Calif., wonders what the youngsters will be up to next.—(Colonist photo.)

PUNTA DEL ESTE (UPI)—A Cuban exile leader leaped to the president's platform at the inter-American economic conference last night and touched off a flurry of fist fighting by shouting "Murderer! Down with Communism!" at Cuban economic czar Ernesto (Che) Guevara.

Guevara had just finished accusing the United States of plotting to assassinate Premier Fidel Castro's brother Paul and attempting to stage an incident at the Guantanamo naval base when the melee broke out.

The exile's dramatic action touched off a general tumult within the conference hall, and during the ensuing melee, at least three fist fights erupted between pro- and anti-Castro Cubans.

SEIZED HIM

Cuban delegation secretary Carlos Heredero Lastre was pelted with fists when he jumped up to answer six exiles shouting anti-Castro slogans.

Dr Max Azori-Levey jumped on the platform before the startled delegates from 21 nations. Two ushers seized him and hustled him out of the room.

FLAG UNFURLED

Immediately afterwards, another Cuban leaped into the middle of the U-shaped conference table and unfurled a Cuban flag, which he held in front of the bearded Guevara.

The Cuban was identified later as one of Guevara's bodyguards.

GOT STUCK

Guevara left the conference room surrounded by a flying wedge of bodyguards. There were so many of them that he got momentarily stuck in the revolving door as he left.

At least six persons were taken to the police station, but all but two were released. Two of the Cuban delegation members showed police intelligence division cards.

'DEATH THREAT'

Azori Levy was among those released. He told newsmen he protested against Guevara because Guevara represents Russia, not Cuba. He said three members of the Cuban delegation had threatened to kill him.

The scuffle with Heredero took place in the press gallery, about 10 feet from the nearest delegates.

IMPERIALISM CHARGE

In addition to his charges of a U.S. assassination plot, Guevara also produced two alleged copies of secret state department documents which he claimed demonstrated the extent of U.S. "imperialism" in Latin America.

He said the plot was scheduled for last July 26. He did not say why it failed, but said it was aimed at provoking "armed aggression" from the Guantanamo naval base.

Ex-Police Boss Held in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—A six-month probe into Quebec liquor police operations during the Union Nationale regime was climaxed spectacularly Tuesday when its former Quebec area director was charged with defrauding the public and the Quebec government of "at least $500,000."

SIX COUNTS

Bosario Lemire, 73, of suburban Charlesbourg, liquor police director for Quebec district for 20 years, was arraigned in criminal court on six counts of fraud.

Six charges were read out against Lemire. They involve alleged fixing of expense accounts, payroll padding in La Forest's favor, fabrication of expense statements to cover up work on his personal summer and winter residences, allowing liquor police employees to collect expenses while working in federal or provincial election campaigns, allowing smuggling and theft of liquor.

Articles Attack Takeover

Manner in which the B.C. Electric Co. was "confiscated" without regard to the rights of citizens is attacked in a two-part article starting today, by veteran federal government official and former envoy C. Norman Senior, a resident of Victoria. First part appears on Page 5.

Residents Fleeing Threatened Towns

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—People fled three Bonavista Bay communities by sea and helicopter Tuesday while firefighters wearing smoke masks faced a roaring forest fire that has been burning steadily for more than two months.

Invalids were flown 30 miles by RCAF helicopter to Gander. Women and children from Musgrave Harbor, Dosting Cove and Ragged Harbor piled aboard the coastal vessels Nonia and Acadian bound for the safety of Fogo Island.

In B.C. wind dropped sharply in the Prince George area Tuesday, halting the progress of two huge forest fires threatening remote sawmill communities and rich stands of timber.

Forest service officials said it left them with a fighting chance to gain control of the blazes which raged over 50,000 acres.

New B.C. Bonds Over Top Already

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett's $100,000,000 B.C. Electric parity bond issue is already "over the top" as far as most Vancouver investment dealers are concerned.
(See Page 6.)

The issue, announced last Friday, is due on the market today.

Dealers report extremely strong demand for the 5 per cent bonds, both locally and in eastern Canada, from large and small investors.

One dealer said he is already looking for additional bonds elsewhere to satisfy demand. Another said he could handle up to three times his allocation.

IQs Boosted By New Drug

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An experiment in which 400 children with learning problems were given a drug to increase alertness and IQ was confirmed yesterday as successful with a majority of the youngsters.

The test involved use of Deanol, in an experiment reported in the New York Journal of Medicine. The report said all but three per cent of the children showed increased alertness and other improvements. The average increase in IQ was 20% points, according to the report.

One boy, who had an IQ of 40, showed an "increase of 80 points after taking the test.

NATO Closes Ranks

PARIS (Reuters) — The NATO council gave broad approval Tuesday to Western plans to meet Russia's Berlin challenge and decided to intensify consultations "in view of the seriousness of the situation."

The 15-nation council issued a communique after a two-hour secret meeting with United States Secretary Dean Rusk, who reported on his weekend consultations with the foreign ministers of Britain, West Germany and France.

The communique reiterated:

1. A peaceful and just solution for the problems of Germany and Berlin is to be found only on the basis of self-determination.

2. The West is determined to maintain the freedom of West Berlin and its 2,000,000 inhabitants.

3. The Western allies cannot be deprived of their rights in Berlin and Russia cannot abdicate its guarantee of Western access to the divided city.

Diplomatic sources said the council gave broad approval to preparatory measures in the political, economic and military fields agreed upon by the foreign ministers.

Observers said the plans involved arrangements for strengthening NATO's conventional military forces in Europe, bringing them up to a level where they can confidently face the conventional forces Russia can effectively deploy on its western borders in Europe. This military objective can be quickly achieved, allied officials say.

Red Uprising Poses Real Berlin Danger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An uprising in Communist East Germany would pose the "real" danger of war in Berlin, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D—Minn.) said yesterday.

Humphrey said he was confident Russian Premier Khrushchev primarily wants Western recognition of the treaty he will ultimately sign with East Germany.

The Russian leader is willing to leave the problem of West Berlin in a state of limbo, "since he can make trouble there any time he wants to," Humphrey said.

Total for the first seven months last year was $455,467 compared with a current total of $710,521.

Residential repairs account for $12,527 and new construction for $21,000.

Council Reconsiders

Want Second Look At Spurned Advice

COURTENAY—City council has agreed that the previously rejected advice of planning experts should be reconsidered in zoning the main entrance to the city.

Ald. F. S. Williams went concurrence from Aldermen Myrtle Viddberg and W. B. Gordon in suggesting the city should be prepared to take direction from experts when changing present zoning.

Mayor W. C. Moore said he had been unable to agree with anything said by planners from the regional planning department in Victoria in support of a short, compact, motel zone on the highway entrance.

Controversy over rezoning for a master plan of civic development started two months ago when the city's advisory planning commission disagreed with some of the provincial planners' recommendations. The commission, chaired by Mayor Moore, preferred a longer motel zone spreading from the city limits to the downtown business district.

Council left both ideas in abeyance in June when it went on to argue other changes in commercial zoning.

The entrance zone question came back to life again this week with a request from Courtenay Tire Ltd. to retain the present commercial zoning on highway property it was acquiring.

Mayor Moore said council shouldn't go on procrastinating on rezoning if the city was to be fair to prospective investors as in the case before the meeting.

A suggestion by Ald. Ian Hirsis to send the whole matter back to the advisory planning commission for a new report was accepted unanimously by council.

Wants Facts

Council Balks At Purchase Of New Buses

DUNCAN—Although North Cowichan council has given its assent to School District 65 to purchase two new buses at a cost of $25,000, Duncan city council has balked, demanding more information.

Under the section of the Schools Act quoted by the board as the authority for the proposed purchase, the words "emergency by-law" were commented on by Mayor Jack Dobson. "I don't like that word," he said.

"The depreciation on these vehicles must be terrific, surely there must be something put aside for it."

The mayor held that council had a right to know, as it had already prepared and approved its budget for the year.

He added, "We have our own fire trucks and we put aside a little bit each year for depreciation.

FIND OUT

"I appreciate that the school trustees are volunteers giving of their time, but we should find out if they have a sinking fund to take care of the replacement of buses."

City clerk Gordon Berry will consult school board secretary G. F. Dyson on the matter and report to council.

Port Alberni

Official Scores Campsite Lack

PORT ALBERNI — The month of July saw 631 cars carrying 1967 tourists stop at the tourist information bureau here.

According to the report given by Mrs. Sandy Ruttan, in charge of the bureau for the second year, many of the tourists are looking for campsites in the district and facilities for camping are "pitiably inadequate."

WANT SOUVENIRS

Mrs. Ruttan also reported an interest on the part of tourists in souvenirs symbolic of the district.

Fish at Stamp Falls are a great tourist attraction and many movies are taken of the migrating salmon.

Apart from persons from other B.C. centres, Washington State leads in the number of tourists who arrive in this district. Fifty-eight of the cars stopping at the bureau in July were from Washington and 38 from California. Visitors came from as far away as the Northwest Territories, Florida and New Brunswick.

Firm Loses $30,000 Job By Only $99

CAMPBELL RIVER — A $29,479 contract for construction of the first two classrooms of what will eventually be an eight-room elementary school has been let to a Vancouver firm, G. E. Millhouse Construction.

The school, to be built at Evergreen and Peterson Road, will open in November and is expected to help solve a major student-transportation problem in this school district.

A local bidder, H. E. Pellgrue, was second lowest tenderer with a bid only $99 higher than the Vancouver firm.

U.S. Lumber Purchases Increasing

DUNCAN — The United States substantially increased purchase of lumber from Chemainus and Crofton ports during July.

Out of the total of 20,958,639 board feet shipped, the U.S. took 10,135,139 and the United Kingdom 5,708,000.

Puerto Rico took 1,446,500 and Australia 1,323,000 feet. Total for the month was the highest this year.

Kraft pulp shipments totalled 6,857 tons.

10-Year-Olds Set Blaze Say Police

NANAIMO—Police and fire officials say they have discovered the identities of two youngsters who set a fire in Nanaimo yesterday. However, RCMP say no charges are contemplated because of the age of the youths. They were both about 10 years old.

The boys are said to have started a blaze near the Egg Pool on Milton Street. No damage was caused.

ALARMS APLENTY

Firemen, who only yesterday were lauding the lack of alarms in the Greater Nanaimo Area, answered three other alarms in the past 24 hours as well.

There was a grass fire at Hecate and Robert Streets and another on Milton Street alongside the E & N Railway tracks.

Damage was negligible in all cases.

Highway Deer Toll Mounting

NANAIMO — Motorists in the central part of Vancouver Island seem to be claiming about as many deer as avid nimrods get during the hunting season.

RCMP report that two more deer were hit by a car overnight on the Island Highway north of Nanaimo.

A mounting number of deer have been highway victims near here recently.

Pony League Fund Over Top Contributions Came in Rush

The Pony League Fund, started by The Daily Colonist on Sunday in an effort to raise enough money to pay the expenses of the Carnarvon All-Stars to the regional Pony League playdowns at Walla Walla, Wash., was closed last night when it went over the top.

Victoria did itself proud in rallying to the support of the city team, which ran out of finances after travelling to Chemainus to win the Vancouver Island championship, to New Westminster to win the provincial title and to Olympia, Wash., to win sectional honors.

When the books were closed last night, the amount collected totalled a shining $548.57, which will cover all expenses of the trip to Walla Walla. Any contributions sent in late and received today also will be turned over to the league.

While this is healthily in excess of the $413 estimated by club officials, more than that was almost certainly needed. The $413 was an absolute minimum for transportation, lodging and meals and did not take into account the myriad incidental expenses which are bound to crop up.

HELP OTHERS

If there is an excess over expenditures, the balance will go to help any other Victoria juvenile baseball club moving along the playoff trail. Otherwise, said Bob Burrows, past president of the Carnarvon Pony League, any balance will be used for Pony League activities next season.

"And we'll need it," he added. "These playdowns have wrecked our finances."

Contributions came into the Colonist sports office steadily yesterday, and it was evident by mid-afternoon that the fund would go over the top.

FROM EVERYBODY

Almost everybody, it seemed, wanted to contribute what they could. Bob Lang, 13-year-old Carnarvon Pony League player who hopes he will be playing in a regional playdown next year, walked into the office to contribute $5 and a late caller last night, with a $2 contribution, was Roger Fairfield, who looked to be about Little League age.

L/S Larry Quinlan went to work at HMCS Naden and the CPO Mess, PO Mess and Fleet Club combined to swell the fund by $50. Ernest Locke took up a collection at the Naval Armament Depot and turned in $10, another two dollars came from an anonymous reader with the initials C.M.

UMPIRES TOO

The Oak Bay Municipal Employees Association sent in a cheque for $20, Oak Bay Firement sent $10 and Cecil Wyatt, Victoria City manager, sent in his personal cheque for $10. Bill Mossey promised a cheque for $15 from the American Little League and the Greater Victoria Umpires Association sent $15.

To cap it all, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, proud as the fact that seven team members graduated from Jaycee-sponsored Little Leagues, sent the fund over $500 with a $75 contribution.

Burrows expressed the appreciation on behalf of the league last night.

"I don't just know what to say, except that it is wonderful," he said when told the fund had gone over the top. "It is heartening to the league and particularly to the youngsters and parents, to know that the Victoria district is behind them so wholeheartedly. I would like to thank everyone and every organization who contributed and The Daily Colonist for taking over the drive and putting it over."

Team manager Evan Williams, who will fly to Walla Walla today to join the club, added his thanks.

"It was terrible," he said. "and it has taken quite a load off our minds. We just couldn't deny the kids the chance to carry on and we had to take the chance that the money would be raised. As it turned out, it really wasn't much of a chance. Please add my thanks, too."

Play starts tonight in the regional championships with Honolulu, the Hawaiian champions, meeting Blackfoot, Idaho, the best in the Rocky Mountain States at 6 in the first game of the double-loss elimination series.

The Carnarvon team meets San Jose at 8:30. And while no line on the other three competing clubs is available, past performances make it almost certain that the Northern California champions are the club the Victorians will have to beat if they are to carry on to the world Pony League final.

Fighting Fists, Bean Balls Fly Among Pennant Race Also-Rans

Philadelphia baseball fans haven't been privileged as far as excitement goes in this dismal season for them, but the few that showed up last night got a special bonus as the Phillies and Pittsburgh Pirates engaged in one of the wildest diamond melees in years.

Unscheduled action started when Pittsburgh catcher Hal Smith tagged out Tony Gonzales at home plate. Before it was over, it seemed that every person in uniforms was swinging at one time or another, seven fights were counted in progress at the same time and police had to work hard to get things quietened down.

The game was finished under protest by the Phillies because Smith, one of the original combatants, wasn't thrown out of the game.

The hassle was all there was for Philadelphia fans, the Pirates winning both games, 10-2 and 3-2, to balance their record at 51-51.

The important baseball action in the National League took place at Los Angeles, where the Dodgers lengthened their short lead by bouncing Milwaukee Braves, 7-3, and at St. Louis, where the surging Cardinals edged by Cincinnati's slipping Reds, 6-5.

BEAN BALLS FLY

There was some out-of the ordinary action, too, at San Francisco, where the Giants knocked off the Chicago Cubs, 6-1, in a battle of bean balls.

Chicago's Don Cardwell sent San Francisco pitcher Jack Sanford sprawling in the second inning, then plunked Orlando Cepeda on the back in the third inning. Sanford had better aim. He got Cardwell on the neck in the sixth inning hard enough to send the righthander into the clubhouse for repairs.

PULL AWAY

New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers continued to pull away from the rest of the field in the American League.

A double by Tony Kubek and a single by Roger Maris gave the Yanks a 10-inning, 5-4 verdict over Los Angeles Angels. Yogi Berra had tied the score at 4-4 in the sixth inning with his 15th home run. It was the sixth straight win for the Yankees, two of them in extra innings and three others by one run. Luis Arroyo, their standout relief pitcher, got his 10th win in 13 decisions with three innings of scoreless pitching.

The Tigers got four-hit pitching from Jim Bunning to beat the Chicago White Sox, 3-0, and stay three games in arrears.

For Heavyweight Title

Cleroux Decisions Chuvalo

MONTREAL (CP) — Hometowner Bob Cleroux, pitting his drive and roundhouse swings against the more polished attack of defending champ George Chuvalo, stripped the Toronto battler of the Canadian heavyweight title Tuesday night with a 12-round decision.

It was a split decision—two judges voting for the Montrealer and the third for Chuvalo—after a gruelling outdoor bout fought in 72-degree temperatures.

Cleroux, at 204, gave 3¼ pounds to Chuvalo.

There were no knockdowns but twice Cleroux wrapped his arms around Chuvalo and hurled him to the canvas.

The crowd was estimated at 14,000.

Referee Nick Nichile repeatedly warned both boxers against illegal tactics. But he took no points away.

It was the third meeting between the pair of 23-year-olds and the third time the title changed hands.

All the bouts were held here and went the 12-round distance.

The French-speaking Cleroux was the aggressor throughout, plodding ahead with gloves high to protect his head.

The left hand was Chuvalo's most effective weapon. He snapped it to Cleroux' body but couldn't get a clear shot to the head.

The match was scored under the five-point must system.

Judge Harry Shulman had Cleroux ahead 58-50 and judge Rene Ouimet by 54-52. Judge John Gow favored Chuvalo 56-54.

The Canadian Press card had Cleroux in front 57-56.

Optimists Lose Sectional Opener

LIBBY, Mont. (Special) — Victoria's Evening Optimists literally gave away their game Tuesday night in losing to Libby in the Babe Ruth League sectional playdowns, 9-2.

Norm Billsborough and Danny Harlow, who shared the pitching for the British Columbia champions, managed to hold Libby to four hits but each gave up half a dozen bases on balls and these combined with a number of passed balls and one error to give the winners most of their runs.

A home run in the last half of the third inning gave Libby the lead but Tony Cosier's two-run single in the fourth gave Victoria a short-lived lead.

Libby came back with four runs in their half of the fourth, got three more in the fifth inning and one in the sixth as Jack Mitchell settled down to hold the losers in check.

Douglas Debated Again

Saanich to Air Six-Lane Plan

The $125,000 plan to beautify the Douglas Street entrance to Victoria is still up in the air.

A special meeting of the Capital Improvement District Commission yesterday decided to send the plan back to Saanich council and ask that the council agree to ban parking along its section of Douglas from June 1, 1962.

The CIDC has offered to do the work at no cost to Victoria or Saanich, provided the councils agree to ban parking.

WITH CONCESSION

City council accepted the plan recently, although Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow pointed out that it is not possible for this year's council to commit next year's council to the parking ban.

But when Saanich considered the offer it was accepted with the concession that parking along Douglas would be banned when it becomes necessary.

ESTIMATED $125,000

Estimated to cost about $125,000, the plan calls for six traffic lanes along Douglas Street from the junction with the Trans-Canada Highway to the Fountain Circle with full-scale beautification of existing boulevard plots.

The CIDC has had difficulty in having its offer accepted by Victoria and Saanich because of merchant opposition to parking ban.

Victoria Riders Score at Show

Victoria riders scored heavily during the two-day Richmond Riding and Driving Club summer show held on the mainland over the weekend.

In the English-style events alone, inland riders clicked for 12 wins. Ten of these were taken by 17-year-old Jean Dunbar.

Couple Continues Happy Tradition

Mr. and Mrs. Will Sadler no longer operate the concession at Beaver Lake, but they still carry on one tradition they began at the lake eight years ago—their annual picnic for children of the Protestant Orphanage.

About 50 youngsters from the home will attend this year's picnic at the lake, from 1 to 6 p.m. There will be ice cream, soft drinks and food, plus boat rides and races.

No Trend Yet

Meter Guesses Rapped

City Hall spokesmen yesterday rejected a suggestion that parking meter collection figures show the public is opposed to using 10-cent parking meters.

'TAKE THREE MONTHS'

"It will take at least three or four months before any trend will begin to shape up," one spokesman said. "Guesswork based on collections for the first five days of this month are worthless."

UP AND DOWN

Collections for the first five days of August totalled $3,673, compared with $2,958 for the same period last year.

Collections for the last five days of July—immediately preceding the first five days of August — were $3,125 — $548 less.

TOO MANY FACTORS

"There are too many factors which must be taken into account," the spokesman said.

About 1,000 of the city's 1,800 parking meters have been altered to charge at the new rate of 10 cents an hour.

New Rural Storm Looms Over Subdivision Plan

Another storm over subdivision control in Central Saanich loomed last night when council received a Capital Region Planning Board draft bylaw with a comment from the deputy reeve it was "the same old thing hashed up in a different way."

'RIGHTS TAKEN'

Following the council meeting at which the proposed by-law was tabled without formal discussion, Coun. P. F. Warren, acting reeve in the absence of R. Gordon Lee, said, "We are all in favor of good subdivision planning.

"We want a control bylaw that is strong, something that has teeth in it. But when the planners come to the point of telling people what to do with their land, then that is taking rights away from the people."

OPPOSITION SEEN

Coun. Warren said there is "a lot of opposition" among council members to the proposal contained in the CRPB draft bylaw that wholesale control of land use should be rigidly enforced. He said the same proposal was served up by former CRPB planner Brahm Wiseman several years ago and rejected outright by council.

SPECIAL MEETING

He said a special council meeting would be called on return of Reeve Lee to thrash out objections to the proposed bylaw.

The CRPB draft designates minimum lot sizes in various parts of the municipality and proposes four areas for development as follows:

- The principal centre, Brentwood, and two lesser communities, Saanichton and Keating, should have a minimum lot size of 12,000 square feet (approximately ¼ acre) with a minimum frontage of 75 feet. Future developments within this area would be permitted only where piped water is available.
- Zones which would provide for larger rural homes, particularly in coastal areas, with a minimum recommended lot size of just over half an acre and a minimum of 95 feet. It is proposed that this will encourage high quality residential developments such as that in the Ten-Mile Point area of Saanich.
- Largest of the four designated areas for development would restrict lot size to a minimum of three acres and is designed to "promote and protect the specialized agricultural areas of the municipality."
- Three parts of the municipality are covered by the fourth of the proposed zones which would provide for parcels of land with a minimum area of six acres. It includes large farm holdings used for general farming and the main dairy farms in the municipality. Also included are some sections, like the McHugh Valley, where land is liable to flooding.

'MORE URGENT'

In an accompanying explanatory report, the CRPB said the present program for installation of piped water encourages development and "makes more urgent the need for new zoning and subdivision bylaws."

It also points out that retention of lands in the third category, with a minimum acreage of three acres, "will more than anything else safeguard the municipality from the financial difficulties which follow the uneconomic development of scattered small lot subdivisions."

Gunshots in Cathedral 'Saved Birds from Pain'

Gunshots that dispatched two pigeons in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday spared the birds unnecessary pain, Dean Brian Whitlow said yesterday.

The dean said previous news reports had indicated the birds were shot outside the building.

"This was not the case," he added. He said on several other occasions, pigeons had entered the church and had slowly died of starvation, unable to find their way out.

Attempts to trap them were fruitless and sometimes the frightened birds injured themselves against the walls of the building in their attempt to elude their rescuers.

"The choice has to be made between a quick and painless shooting and a slow and painful death by starvation," said the dean.

He said protests by SPCA manager Norman Stephens were evidently prompted by the report that the birds were on the roof outside the church.

Mr. Stephens said he contemplated no further action and it was "unlikely that it will happen again."

Oak Bay Rejects Report For Higher 'Outside' Pay

Oak Bay council has rejected a conciliation board majority report recommending pay increases to the outside staff.

Union spokesmen said Local 311 of the Municipal Employees Association, which has about 40 permanent members, will hold a meeting this week to decide what course of action to take.

The union had accepted the majority report which calls for a four-cent hourly increase for laborers now receiving a basic rate of $1.86 per hour, and a three-cent increase for skilled laborers now receiving a basic rate ranging from $1.86 to $2.16 per hour.

The non-binding report also suggested the pay increase should be effective from July 1, 1961, although the contract would cover a 12-month period from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1961.

OTHER BENEFITS

It also called upon the union to wait until next contract negotiations to seek other benefits including service pay, holidays with pay and cost percentages to be shared by employers and employees under group insurance plans.

The majority report was submitted by C. E. Gerhart, chairman, and G. E. Bone, the union nominee on the three-man conciliation board.

ONE-YEAR PACT

E. E. Pearlman, employer's nominee on the board, said in a minority report:

"In the interest of harmony among all employees . . . I strongly recommend that a one-year agreement be entered into, terminating Dec. 31, 1961, and that it be on the same terms and conditions as presently exist."

'GROSSLY UNFAIR'

Reeve George Murdoch said yesterday the majority report was rejected by council this week.

"Council felt the whole thing was grossly unfair to other unions who have agreed to hold the line by renewing their former contracts," said Reeve Murdoch.

'IT'S A TOSS-UP'

He said the employees could take a strike vote but "it's been a toss-up whether council contracts the work out or keeps our own employees on."

Russell Cooney, president of the outside staff union, said council's rejection of the majority report came as no surprise to him.

ACTION EXPECTED

"We quite expected this. I knew it would happen," he said, adding that the old contract expired last December and they have been negotiating ever since.

Possibility of contracting out the work is "up to them (council). It's been talked about several times in the past few years. I'll not say they can't, but it would be pretty hard to do," said the union chief.

Hospitality Drive For Navy Visit Stalled at Start

So far only a handful of Victorians have answered an appeal by the Chamber of Commerce for volunteers to act as hosts for sailors aboard a British warship scheduled to arrive Aug. 18 on a four-day visit to Esquimalt.

A spokesman for RCN Pacific Command said it had been informed that up to noon Tuesday only six offers to take visiting sailors as guests for a day during the weekend of Aug. 19 and 20 had been forthcoming.

Both naval and chamber officials expressed concern at the slow start to the hospitality campaign which is geared to handle as many as 120 men on each of the two days.

FIRST VISIT

HMS Londonderry, one of the Royal Navy's most modern anti-submarine frigates, is making her first visit to B.C. waters. After her four-day visit to Victoria the warship will go to Vancouver to take part in the Pacific National Exhibition.

John Coppinger, secretary-manager of the chamber, said the hospitality program is designed to strengthen bonds of friendship between British Columbians and the visiting Britons, most of whom are getting their first look at Canada.

"What better way to achieve this than by offering our visitors the hospitality of Canadian homes, by taking them on drives and to picnics among the scenic beauties of our Island?" said Mr. Coppinger.

HOSTS REQUIRED

The RCN is arranging activities that will cover the first and fourth days of the visit. Hosts for a day are required for the Saturday and Sunday. Volunteers should phone the chamber office at EV 3-7191 giving their name, address, whether they have a car, and how many sailors they wish to entertain.

No Pay Hike in 90 Years!

Canada's lieutenant-governors are unique, Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes told Victoria Kiwanis Club yesterday.

"It is a unique appointment in that there is no exact parallel in the British Commonwealth or the world," he said. "It is quite different to that of a governor in one of the states south of the line; it is quite different to that of a governor in one of the states of Australia."

Mr. Pearkes said a Canadian lieutenant-governor has three main functions—as a representative of the Queen, as an officer appointed by the federal government and as chief executive of the province.

* * *

Mr. Pearkes described the history of Crown representatives in British Columbia from the days of Sir James Douglas—"who at heart was very much of a dictator"—through the union of B.C. and Vancouver Island, and Canadian confederation, up to the present time.

* * *

Lieutenant-governors are appointed and paid by the federal government, and haven't had a wage increase for 90 years, he said smiling.

Mr. Pearkes was made the club's first honorary member in its 40-year history. The framed membership certificate was presented by Ed Mallek, district governor for Kiwanis in the Victoria district.

Major Tenant Lost

Industrial Estate 'Not Abandoned'

A Vancouver construction firm will continue to push its proposal for development of an industrial estate in Saanich despite the unexpected loss of its first major prospective tenant.

R. G. Bentall, vice-president of Dominion Construction Company, said he had received no previous indication that B.C. Telephone Company was seeking a new site for its proposed $300,000 administrative and commercial centre.

It was disclosed yesterday that the telephone company has applied to Saanich council for rezoning of five acres on the southwest corner of McKenzie Avenue and Quadra Street as a site for the centre.

"The B.C. Telephone Company was the first prospective client we had," said Mr. Bentall. "I had no idea they had changed their plans, but regardless of this we are certainly going ahead with our plans to develop an industrial estate."

Mr. Bentall said "pressure of business" has forced his firm to temporarily slacken off on its drive to establish the project, but he added that with other prospective tenants already lined up "concrete developments" should be forthcoming before the end of August.

AWAITING PLANS

Reeve George Chatterton last night said council was still awaiting final plans for the industrial estate project.

"Whether the Dominion Construction proposal will be acceptable or not, we don't know," said the reeve. "But this is a question of much importance for Saanich."

CONCERN EXPRESSED

Earlier, some concern had been expressed by individual council members that receipt of no word from Dominion Construction over a period of several weeks indicated abandonment of the project.

Council is awaiting the report of the advisory planning board on the B.C. Telephone Company proposal to locate its administrative offices and plant at the new site near the municipal yard.

Playground Field Day Set Today

Parents and friends of youngsters who took part in city parks supervised playground program this summer are invited to attend a field day starting at 1 p.m. today in Central Park.

Program director Gordon Hartley said last night that every activity carried on in parks playgrounds will be represented in sports events and displays of handiwork by youngsters.

More than 1,000 children are expected to take part in the day's events which mark the close of supervised playground operations in city parks for this summer.

All city playgrounds except Central will be closed for the afternoon so that youngsters can take part in races, novelty events, a 20-bout boxing card and a table tennis tournament for boys and

Brighton Extension Tabled Indefinitely

Oak Bay council has tabled indefinitely its plans to extend Brighton Avenue through Brighton Place and sell some of the property to pay for the paving project.

Reeve George Murdoch said yesterday council decided to "leave it for further study," after considering a brief which was presented to council calling for the municipality to retain the area as a small natural park.

The brief was presented this week by John W. Jackson, 1400 St. Patrick, on behalf of himself and 47 others.

Mr. Murdoch said a delegation accompanying Mr. Jackson that a former road allowance at Brighton Place was cancelled in 1959 so the corporation could construct a 24-foot-wide extension of Brighton Avenue there, paying for the extension from sale of four lots within the 144-foot-wide strip of land.

Residents Blamed — Debris Dumped

Garbage Spoils Gorge

Some nearby residents are dumping garbage in the Gorge, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow charged yesterday.

"People living in the Gorge area are dumping brush, flowers, lawn cuttings and various debris into the water," he said. "It seems a pity for anyone to deter the development and beautification of the area."

* * *

Ald. Edgelow, president of the Gorge Waterway Development Association, appealed to offenders to stop the practice.

The charge was supported by Jack Phillion, an executive member of Victoria Kinsmen Club, which has poured $125,000 into development of Kinsmen-Gorge Park.

"It's the best swimming in Victoria is the Gorge and it seems a shame to have it spoiled by floating garbage."

Mr. Phillion's home at 10 Phillion Place fronts onto the Gorge waters.

"Rockwell Beach was established by residents around there and someone has dumped dirt and clay over the bank right alongside the beach," he said.

"If there is anything more disgraceful than tipping dead flowers and grass clippings and dry leaves into the Gorge I don't know what it is."

Mr. Phillion said the swimming pool in Kinsmen-Gorge Park is not affected by floating rubbish as it is separated from the main body of the Gorge.

Conference in Tumult As Cubans Wield Fists

PUNTA DEL ESTE (UPI)—A Cuban exile leader leaped to the president's platform at the inter-American economic conference last night and touched off a flurry of fist fighting by shouting "Murderer! Down with Communism!" at Cuban economic czar Ernesto (Che) Guevara.

Guevara had just finished accusing the United States of plotting to assassinate Premier Fidel Castro's brother Raul and attempting to stage an incident at the Guantanamo naval base when the melee broke out.

The exile's dramatic action touched off a general tumult within the conference hall, and during the ensuing melee, at least three fist fights erupted between pro and anti-Castro Cubans.

SEIZED HIM

Cuban delegation secretary Carlos Heredero Lastre was pelted with fists when he jumped up to answer six exiles shouting anti-Castro slogans.

Dr. Max Asori-Levoy jumped on the platform before the startled delegates from 21 nations. Two ushers seized him and hustled him out of the room.

FLAG UNFURLED

Immediately afterwards, another Cuban leaped into the middle of the U-shaped conference table and unfurled a Cuban flag, which he held in front of the bearded Guevara.

The Cuban was identified later as one of Guevara's bodyguards.

GOT STUCK

Guevara left the conference room surrounded by a flying wedge of bodyguards. There were so many of them that he got momentarily stuck in the revolving door as he left.

At least six persons were taken to the police station, but all but two were released. Two of the Cuban delegation members showed police intelligence division cards.

"DEATH THREAT"

Asori Levy was among those released. He told newsmen he protested against Guevara because Guevara represents Russia, not Cuba. He said three members of the Cuban delegation had threatened to kill him.

The scuffle with Heredero took place in the press gallery, about 10 feet from the nearest delegates.

IMPERIALISM CHARGE

In addition to his charges of a U.S. assassination plot, Guevara also produced two alleged copies of secret state department documents which he claimed demonstrated the extent of U.S. "imperialism" in Latin America.

He said the plot was scheduled for last July 26. He did not say why it failed, but said it was aimed at provoking "armed aggression" from the Guantanamo naval base.

Poisoning 'Victims' Safe After International Hunt

By JACK FRY

A Canadian customs man at Sidney yesterday ended a 5½-hour international search when he spotted a California car carrying three children believed to be suffering from contact with an agricultural poison.

Don Wilson, a Victoria University student working during the summer months for the federal government, spotted the car coming off the Anacortes ferry at 5.45 p.m.

The visitors, James Thompson of Brawley, Calif., his wife Lois and children Anne, 8, Michael, 6, and John, 3, were taken under police escort to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where the children were released after a checkup.

Mr Thompson, a junior high school principal in Brawley, said doctors explained to him the children would have become violently ill within six hours if they had been poisoned.

It was at first believed that they were ill, when RCMP sounded a general alert in British Columbia at 12.20 p.m. The report was originated from the Washington State Patrol, which said at least one of the children had been playing in a heavy concentration of aldrin, an agricultural poison which can be absorbed through the skin and could be fatal.

Wide-eyed three-year-old John Thompson waits fearfully for doctor's assurance he is not poisoned, while his father, James Thompson of Brawley, Calif., wonders what the youngsters will be up to next. Authorities sought family to make sure children were safe.—(Colonist photo.)

All Approaches Checked

The family spent three days at the Canby, Ore., farm of Mr. Thompson's father, also named James Thompson, and it was reported after their departure that young John and possibly the other children had been playing with a bucket of poison on the farm.

The Thompsons were on their way here for a week's holiday on Vancouver Island. Every highway and ferry approach to the Island as well as every border crossing point was checked by police and other officials.

Search for their light yellow station wagon pulling a house trailer spread through the Lower Mainland and into the Interior.

The B.C. government ferry Mv Tsawwassen was even delayed for 15 minutes at the mainland terminal when an RCMP car roared down to the dock with red light blinking and siren wailing. A policeman and B.C. toll authority officials searched the ferry and car lineup without success.

The Thompsons left the Oregon farm Sunday night, staying Monday night with friends in Poulsbo, Wash., where the children all went for a swim.

They were sitting in their station wagon at Anacortes yesterday waiting for the ferry to Sidney when they heard over their transistor radio an appeal broadcast for the public to be on the lookout for a car from California. But unsuspecting they let it pass because the name was given as Johnston and the licence plate numbers were different, said Mr. Thompson.

'Completely Puzzled'

Don Wilson, who spotted the car as it rolled off the ferry at Sidney, also said the licence plate and trailer color descriptions were inaccurate. "But the description matched vaguely and I reported it to a senior official."

Customs men asked Mr. Thompson to telephone RCMP, who advised him to drive straight to Victoria, where a doctor would be waiting. Police provided escorts along the way.

As he stepped from his station wagon at the hospital, Mr. Thompson told questioners: "We're completely puzzled. Apparently the youngsters came in contact with some kind of poison."

Mrs. Thompson said, "As far as I can tell, I'm sure they didn't go out to the barn (where the poison was kept)."

Her son Michael said, "John picked up a bucket and it looked like cement."

The school principal later said doctors told him "they were very happy to say our youngsters are all right, and we can go on and enjoy our holiday."

He said, "We feel the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and other police forces should be commended for their efficiency."

It was the family's second visit to Vancouver Island. They said it would not be their last. As they climbed back into their yellow station wagon, one of a half dozen news photographers standing by quipped, "You won't get the same reception next time."

Ex-Police Boss Held in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—A six-month probe into Quebec liquor police operations during the Union Nationale regime was climaxed spectacularly Tuesday when its former Quebec area director was charged with defrauding the public and the Quebec government of "at least $500,000."

SIX COUNTS

Rosario Lemire, 73, of suburban Charlesbourg, liquor police director for Quebec district for 20 years, was arraigned in criminal court on six counts of fraud.

Police were also holding two other men on related charges.

Six charges were read out against Lemire. They involve alleged fixing of expense accounts, payroll padding in an employee's favor, fabrication of expense statements to cover up work on his personal summer and winter residences, allowing liquor police employees to collect expenses while working in federal or provincial election campaigns, allowing smuggling and theft of liquor.

Articles Attack Takeover

Manner in which the B.C. Electric Co. was "confiscated" without regard to the rights of citizens is attacked in a two-part article starting today, by veteran federal government official and former envoy C. Norman Senior, a resident of Victoria. First part appears on Page 6.

Residents Fleeing Threatened Towns

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—People fled three Bonavista Bay communities by sea and helicopter Tuesday while firefighters wearing smoke masks faced a roaring forest fire that has been burning steadily for more than two months.

Invalids were flown 30 miles by RCAF helicopter to Gander. Women and children from Musgrave Harbor, Dosting Cove and Ragged Harbor piled aboard the coastal vessels Nonia and Acadian bound for the safety of Fogo Island.

In B.C. wind dropped sharply in the Prince George area Tuesday, halting the progress of two huge forest fires threatening remote sawmill communities and rich stands of timber.

Forest service officials said it left them with a fighting chance to gain control of the blazes which raged over 55,000 acres.

New B.C. Bonds Over Top Already

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett's $100,000,000 B.C. Electric parity bond issue is already "over the top" as far as most Vancouver investment dealers are concerned. (See Page 6.)

The issue, announced last Friday, is due on the market today.

Dealers report extremely strong demand for the 5 per cent bonds, both locally and in eastern Canada, from large and small investors.

One dealer said he is already looking for additional bonds elsewhere to satisfy demand. Another said he could handle up to three times his allocation.

Famine Ends For Addicts

VANCOUVER (CP) — The city's illicit drug famine has ended.

It began Friday when supplies were apparently cut off and addicts in pawn sought substitutes.

IQs Boosted By New Drug

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An experiment in which 400 children with learning problems were given a drug to increase alertness and IQ was confirmed yesterday as successful with a majority of the youngsters.

The test involved use of Deanol, in an experiment reported in the New York Journal of Medicine. The report said all but three per cent of the children showed increased alertness and other improvements. The average increase in IQ was 20¼ points, according to the report.

One boy, who had an IQ of 60, showed an increase of 30 points after taking the test.

German Reds Call Meeting

BERLIN (Reuters) — The East German Volkskammer (parliament) will meet here Friday to discuss "questions concerning a peace treaty," it was announced last night. No further details were given.

NATO Closes Ranks

PARIS (Reuters) — The NATO council gave broad approval Tuesday to Western plans to meet Russia's Berlin challenge and decided to intensify consultations "in view of the seriousness of the situation."

The 15-nation council issued a communique after a two-hour secret meeting with United States Secretary Dean Rusk, who reported on his weekend consultations with the foreign ministers of Britain, West Germany and France.

The communique reiterated:

- A peaceful and just solution for the problems of Germany and Berlin is to be found only on the basis of self-determination.
- The West is determined to maintain the freedom of West Berlin and its 2,000,000 inhabitants.

Red Uprising Poses Real Berlin Danger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An uprising in Communist East Germany would pose the "real" danger of war in Berlin, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D—Minn.) said yesterday.

Humphrey said he was confident Russian Premier Khrushchev primarily wants Western recognition of the treaty he will ultimately sign with East Germany.

The Russian leader is willing to leave the problem of West Berlin in a state of limbo, "since he can make trouble there any time he wants to," Humphrey said.

- The Western allies cannot be deprived of their rights in Berlin and Russia cannot abdicate its guarantee of Western access to the divided city.

Diplomatic sources said the council gave broad approval to preparatory measures in the political, economic and military fields agreed upon by the foreign ministers.

Observers said the plans involved arrangements for strengthening NATO's conventional military forces in Europe, bringing them up to a level where they can confidently face the conventional forces Russia can effectively deploy on its western borders in Europe. This military objective can be quickly achieved, Allied officials say.
